

Editor Rejects Denials
Of Dump Froehlich Bid

BY WILLIAM C. CAREY

The managing editor of the Portage Daily Register late Friday defended and stood by his exclusive story of an alleged "dump Froehlich" move which his reliable source attributed to Gov. Warren Knowles.

The explosive, speculative story created a furor among the state's Republican Party leaders and their unqualified denials of the report concerning Assemblyman Harold Froehlich, R-Appleton, who is speaker of the Assembly.

Daryl Mowen of the Daily Register told The Post-Crescent he obtained his information from "a very reliable source in Madison."

Told that official spokesmen for the governor, Republican Party and Froehlich all labeled the report "ridiculous and fantastic," Mowen said he would stand by his story and was not entertaining any thought of a retraction.

Within Month

The story in the Daily Register, which was also carried by United Press International wire service, indicated that within the past month Gov. Knowles reportedly told some members of the GOP executive committee he would retire from politics unless Froehlich was dumped as Assembly speaker.

Knowles, according to the controversial report, laid the blame for some of his administration's problems on Froehlich because of the latter's conservative posture.

The story said Knowles felt Froehlich was threatening the whole GOP structure in Wisconsin. Some executive committee members, the newspaper said, reportedly assured Knowles of their support.

Paul Hassett, Madison, the governor's executive secretary, attempted to reach Froehlich as soon as he heard about the newspaper story to assure the Appleton legislator there was nothing to it.

"Speaking for the governor, I can say the report about Assemblyman Froehlich being dumped is ridiculous," Hassett said in a telephone interview.

"The governor did not meet with the executive committee when it convened at Stevens Point in December and has not met with it at his home," Hassett added. "There is no reason or foundation for the newspaper account."

In Washington

Hassett said Gov. Knowles had been in Washington all week.

"There have been some obvious and public differences between Gov. Knowles and Speaker Froehlich but this is not unusual in the governmental process," Hassett commented.

Froehlich, elected to the speaker's post by a one-vote margin, was in Black Creek when he heard of the Portage newspaper's story.

Shortly after the report hit the airwaves, Froehlich was deluged with calls from news media representatives throughout the state.

"It's fantastic," Froehlich said of the story. "I give no credence to the report whatsoever."

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chairman of the House Appropriations Committee says programs recommended by the President's Commission on Civil Disorders could cost hundreds of billions of dollars and "this is wholly unrealistic."

The commission's report, added Rep. George H. Mahon, D-Tex., "may raise hopes and expectations which could do more harm than good." He contended it is unsound to suggest that racial prejudice can be cured by spending huge sums of money.

Half Million Recipients Added
Social Security Increases Start

WASHINGTON (AP) — More than 20 million Americans, young and old, are receiving fatter Social Security checks starting today.

And the government is adding nearly half a million more persons to the Social Security rolls under the legislation enacted by Congress late last year.

The benefit increase, at least 13 per cent for everyone and higher in some cases, is the first since a 7 per cent hike in July 1965.

The dollar total of the increase is the largest ever for the system: $2.9 billion over what would have been paid this year. The average couple's check goes from about $145 to $165.

Maximum benefits for a couple increases from $213 to $230; the maximum for a single person goes from $142 to $160.

Smallest monthly payment to a worker who retired at age 65 reaches $55, from $44.

To finance the increase, the government will take a bigger bite from workers' earnings. But only one in four will have more deducted this year. That's because the percentage withheld stays the same this year — a maximum of 4.4 per cent — though it is applied now to earnings up to $7,800 instead of $6,000.

The take goes up thereafter, however, to a maximum of 5.9 per cent in 1967.

Congress also voted expanded coverage and benefits effective with today's checks.

People 72 or older who had little or no past earnings under Social Security will get $40 instead of $35 and couples receive $60 a month, an increase of $7.50.

Liberalized rules will add about 465,000 persons to Social Security rolls. About 175,000 are children of women workers who have died, retired or become disabled. About 100,000 others are workers who became disabled before age 31.

Widows can receive benefits as early as age 50 under the new law.

Rights Stall
Questioned,
Senator Says

Public Wants to Know Why Nothing
Is Being Achieved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The floor manager of the civil rights bill, impatient at the Senate's refusal to choke debate on it and get on to a vote, says Americans are asking: "What in God's name are you doing? Why don't you act?"

Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., commented Friday as the Senate refused for a third time to vote for cloture. A fourth attempt will be made Monday but the outcome is in doubt.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who proposed the cloture move, said if the new attempt fails, he thinks Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield will want to put the bill aside and take up other legislation.

Mansfield Assessment

But Mansfield told newsmen only that he would assess the situation after the vote.

The cloture vote Friday was the first since the introduction of the compromise hammered out by Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen and a bipartisan bloc of liberals.

Dirksen had confidently predicted the cloture move would succeed, as had Hart. But the 59-35 vote was four short of the required two-thirds majority.

The only two Republican senators who joined with Dirksen in switching to support of cloture were his son-in-law, Howard H. Baker of Tennessee, and Len B. Jordan of Idaho. Nineteen other Republicans also voted for ending the debate.

In the earlier stages of the debate that began Jan. 17, Dirksen had fought against including open housing in the legislation and urged the Senate not "to gag itself" by voting for cloture.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, Jr., D-N.C., a leader of the Southern bloc of the civil rights measure, was jubilant after the vote.

Rocky Declares His Draft Availability

WASHINGTON (AP) — New York Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller says he won't enter primary battles but is "ready and willing" to become the Republican presidential nominee if the party wants him.

But former Vice President Richard M. Nixon contends no one will be drafted for the nomination.

Rockefeller put himself on call Friday "to serve the American people" if there is "a genuine feeling on the part of the party that that's what they want."

His Decision

He alone will decide, the governor told a news conference, and when and if there is sufficient evidence of support to indicate he could get the 667 convention votes necessary for the nomination. But he shied away from taking the usual political risk—primary fights—in pursuit of the prize.

In marching to the brink of active candidacy, the New York governor laid down some ground rules calculated to avoid any brawling contest in the primaries with Nixon. He will not let his name go on the ballot in any of them, he said, because to do so would cause dissension within the party.

Asked why such a move would threaten a party split, he replied: "Well, I had experience once before, four years ago."

Blocked Challenge

This was a reference to his defeat by Barry Goldwater in the 1964 California primary which sealed Goldwater's nomination. It also was an allusion to complaints at that time by moderate Republicans that Rockefeller wouldn't get out of the way in time to let anyone else challenge Goldwater.

Rockefeller discounted in advance the effects of write-in drives for him. He said he will not visit either New Hampshire or Oregon where such drives are under way.

Rockefeller said there isn't time left to do anything effective in New Hampshire's March 12 primary. As for the May 28 Oregon primary, he said it would not be meaningful because Nixon would be the only major candidate entered there.

Campaigning in New Hampshire, Nixon said: "If Rockefeller doesn't enter the primaries he will not be nominated and I will be. No one is going to be drafted for this nomination. No one is going to back in."

The former vice president also made a quick visit to Washington, where he said—despite Rockefeller's announced intention not to campaign there—that the New Hampshire primary will be an important test of the governor's strength.

Both Extremes of Northern
Frontiers See Heavy Fighting

By GEORGE ESPER

SAIGON (AP) — Allied forces fought heavy battles at both ends of South Vietnam's northern frontier Friday and reported killing 330 enemy soldiers, many of them with a sheet of machine-gun fire from armored vehicles.

In the area of one of the battles, in which South Vietnamese rangers at Khe Sanh reported killing 70 enemy attackers Friday, U.S. B52 bombers and smaller fighter-bombers kept up what has become the biggest air campaign of the war.

The eight-engine B52s aimed 1.5 million pounds of bombs in 10 raids Friday and today at North Vietnamese troops tunneling toward the Khe Sanh combat base. One strike was only 750 yards from the allied positions and another was just 1,000 yards away, close enough to shake allied bunkers.

U.S. fighter-bombers flew 187 sorties in the area Friday and pilots reported setting off eight secondary explosions and several fires in a North Vietnamese storage area and truck park, indicating they hit ammunition or fuel.

Some 500 Vietnamese rangers, guarding Khe Sanh along with 5,000 U.S. Marines against an expected massive Communist assault, repulsed 500 North Vietnamese who made a probing attack Friday.

Other South Vietnamese troops used the armored vehicles, personnel carriers with heavy machine guns, in a clash at the eastern end of the frontier. They were sweeping south of the Cua Viet River while a special U.S. Marine landing team of perhaps 1,000 men swept the north side, about seven miles south of the eastern end of the demilitarized zone.

South Vietnamese Dead

The government forces reported killing 203 Communist soldiers, and said eight South Vietnamese were killed and 25 wounded.

The U.S. Marine unit came ashore from boats in the South China Sea more than a month ago for its operation in the enemy stronghold area, coastal marshlands dotted by villages, sand dunes and hedgerows.

It ran into heavy fire Friday and spokesmen said 36 Communists and 22 Marines were killed and 87 Marines wounded in the day-long battle that followed.

The allied forces sweeping through the Cua Viet Delta are trying to take Communist pressure off the provincial capital of Quang Tri, seven miles to the south, and to keep open Highway 1, a key supply route to allied bases from Da Nang to the northern frontier.

Near Con Thien

Just to the west of the delta, U.S. Marines reported killing 21 enemy troops with artillery after a Communist force of unknown size was spotted moving in the open two miles north of Con Thien.

In air raids on North Vietnam, all-weather Navy A6 Intruders attacked one of four vital highway bridges in the key port city of Haiphong and a cargo transfer and storage complex on the Red River only 18 miles southeast of the center of Hanoi.

The Haiphong bridge attacked Friday is only one mile west of the center of the city, on the main route to Hanoi.

Reuther Calls
Union Leaders

Auto Worker Chief
To Complain About
AFL-CIO Policies

WASHINGTON (AP) — Auto Workers President Walter Reuther has called a private caucus to lay before other union chiefs his bitter charges against AFL-CIO President George Meany's leadership of American labor.

For more than a year, Reuther has been describing that leadership as "undemocratic," "complacent," "vegetating," and "stagnant."

"I want to talk with you about the differences between the Auto Workers and the AFL-CIO," Reuther said in telegrams inviting several union presidents to the caucus in New York's Roosevelt Hotel March 8.

Reuther appears nearing a decision on whether to pull his 1.5 million Auto Workers out of the 14-million-member AFL-CIO in what would be a major schism in labor's ranks.

Although it was not known how many invitations to the New York meeting went out, presidents of three AFL-CIO unions confirmed receiving them.

Three Leaders

They are Max Greenberg of the Retail, Wholesale and Department Store Union; William Pollock, of the Textile Workers Union of America; and Charles Cogen of the American Federation of Teachers.

Some telegrams inviting union presidents were sent without stating the reason. Others said Reuther wanted to discuss his split with Meany, the man with whom he joined to merge the American Federation of Labor and Congress of Industrial Organizations into the AFL-CIO in 1955.

Reuther and his Auto Workers Executive Board are meeting this weekend in Detroit, where union sources say Reuther may demand a special AFL-CIO convention or a meeting of the presidents of its 128 affiliated unions to discuss his demands for reform and "revitalization" of the labor federation.

Asked why such a move would threaten a party split, he replied: "Well, I had experience once before, four years ago."

Blocked Challenge

At U.S. 41-State 47

A Green Bay woman died after a two-car crash at U.S. 41 and State 47 about 7:35 p.m. Friday.

Mrs. Valda Vine, 29, 240 St. Mary Blvd., died at 10:30 p.m. at Appleton Memorial Hospital of severe head injuries, according to Deputy Outagamie County Coroner C. J. Schink. Her husband, William, 33, driver of the auto in which she was riding, was treated for head cuts and released about midnight.

Her death was the second traffic fatality of the year in Outagamie County.

Jack B. Nachtwey, 48, Shawano, driver of the second car, escaped injury, according to Outagamie County Police.

Authorities said the accident occurred when the two cars apparently entered State 47 from U.S. 41 exit ramps almost simultaneously. Vine had been westbound on U.S. 41 and was exiting to go south on State 47. Nachtwey had been eastbound on U.S. 41 and was exiting to go north on State 47.

No Changes

Police said the Nachtwey auto apparently went through a stop sign at the top of the exit ramp. No charges were immediately filed, police said, but investigation is continuing.

The impact of the grinding crash sent the 1967 Vine auto across the intersection and into a grassy southeast ditch. The 1964 Nachtwey auto stopped crossways near the intersection divider. Police said that Mrs. Vine was thrown from her auto onto the center of the highway. She was unconscious when taken to the hospital.

State police assisted with traffic at the busy intersection a mile north of Appleton. Police estimated damage at more than $4,500 to the two autos.

Groppi Raps
Call for New
White Views

LOS ANGELES (AP)—A presidential commission's report on solutions in the wake of 1967 rioting was challenged Friday by the Rev. James Groppi of Milwaukee.

"If the white man is a bigot, that's his problem," he said. Father Groppi, the Catholic priest leading Milwaukee's open housing fight, told a Los Angeles news conference the commission's urging of new attitudes by white Americans was not the main concern of Negroes any more.

"We are working for solidification of the black community and Black Power," the white priest said.

Once Black Power has been achieved, white attitudes toward the Negro will change of necessity, he asserted.

LBJ Makes Informal Visits

BEAUMONT, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, winging party conflicts, he said at His final stop of the day was at the Brooks dinner.

In his space center address, Johnson said: "You will have to go through some heartaches and headaches. There will be little men with poison pens, without vision, who will seek to destroy your great efforts—but they will not prevail."

"We will not surrender our station. We will not abandon our dream. We will never evacuate the frontiers of space to any other nation," he said.

Johnson, who cut next year's budget request for the National Aeronautics and Space Administration from $4.8 billion to $4.3 billion, conceded: "We may have to reduce some of the plans we had, but we will not forget you and we will not stop our work. We will proceed."

"I'm not too concerned about party conflicts," he said at Brooks' testimonial. "Next summer when the national convention chooses its nominee—whoever it is—then I believe all the strays are going to come back to the fold."

"And we're going to welcome them with open arms."

Johnson's flying stops, in keeping with new White House policy, usually were announced one at a time, after his plane was airborne and on its way. The first stop was Houston and the Manned Space Flight Center where he tried to give a boost to space program morale sagging in the face of administration-sponsored budget cuts.

Then, in Beaumont, he visited an old folks home and handed out the first three pensioner checks reflecting bigger benefits voted by Congress last year.

Lutherans Consider Forming Parishes

Summer Canvass in Appleton Planned to Determine Needs

A canvass of three areas on the outskirts of Appleton to determine the need for mission sites has been proposed by a three-man study committee of the Appleton Circuit Conference of the Wisconsin Synod Lutheran Church.

This proposal, which could lead to additional Lutheran parishes in the city, has received support of the circuit, which consists of five Wisconsin Synod churches in Appleton and seven churches in the eastern end of the Fox Valley.

According to the recommendation of the study committee, seminary students would conduct the canvass this summer.

Normal procedure in such cases is to have exploratory services conducted in temporary quarters after the canvass, then give mission status if attendance warrants.

Synod Support
The end point would mean support from the Synod, which would supply the church facility and appoint area pastors to conduct the services until a pastor is called.

On to Total Destruction?

The Defense Department's recent announcement that the Soviet Union seems to be stepping up its production and deployment of land based intercontinental ballistic missiles is a chilling indication of the growing fridity between the United States and Russia.

Reportedly more than 1,000 ICBM's will be put into place by the middle of next year by the Soviets but the reasons for this step-up in nuclear confrontation is not clear.

If one aspires to conspiracy theories it could be that Russia has masterminded the Vietnam war, managed to get the mighty United States bogged down in an Asian land war without committing a single Russian soldier. Overextended throughout the world, the United States then must begin to retract from other parts of the world and the Russians move in to fill the vacuum. This may have been already demonstrated by the Soviet warships on permanent station in the Mediterranean and the number of Russians aiding the Arabs in the Middle East with both equipment and technicians.

The deployment of enough ICBM's seriously to threaten the American strategic air force then could be a preparation for finding a new area of the world in which to challenge American influence — Berlin, perhaps, India or maybe by taking an active part in Nigeria's struggle or reopening black-versus white conflicts in some other part of Africa. The theory follows that the United States would have to back down as Russia did during the Cuban missile crisis and Russian world prestige and influence would bound upward while ours sank to another low.

If this has all been a Russian plot, masterminded in the Kremlin, it has so far been a most successful one.

But there is another theory that seems more reasonable. This is that the Soviets are as much concerned about the extent of American influence to their own detriment as the anti-Communists in this country are about the Russians. Not content to drive the Russians out of this hemisphere as we did from Cuba, the United States seeks to expand its world power by the adventure in Asia. Fifty thousand American troops continue to patrol the border between North and South Korea although neither Russian nor Chinese troops are in North Korea. The refusal of the United States to accept a stalemate in Vietnam but what seems to be the increasing emphasis upon a complete military victory over Ho Chi Minh may add to the Russian concern. For then, whatever the initial reason for American troops in Vietnam, military defeat of North Vietnam puts aggression on the other side especially if there is an invasion. The American military build-up in Asia is tremendous — and to the Russians, Asia looks a long way from the United States and much closer to some parts of the Soviet Union.

We do not subscribe to the theory held by some American historians, that after Stalin at least, it was the United States rather than the Soviet Union that kept the cold war alive. But it does appear that all the blame does not lie on the side of the Russians. In particular the American policies since President Kennedy died and Premier Khrushchev was removed have been static and narrow.

Scientists Jerome Wiesener and Herbert York recently wrote that "both sides in the arms race are . . . confronted by the dilemma of steadily increasing military power and steadily decreasing national security. It is our considered professional judgment that this dilemma has no technical solution . . . If the great powers continue to look for solutions in the area of science and technology only, the result will be to worsen the situation . . ."

The new Russian build-up of ICBM's and the cries in the United States for a multibillion dollar missile defense system are examples of this effort to find an elusive technological solution. We don't know about Russian alternative policies, but it is disturbing to note that nowhere in official Washington, especially since Mr. McNamara has left, is there any sign of a realization that there must be another area in which to search for solutions much less a willingness to seek it.

Some 5,000 U.S. Marines are nearly surrounded by enemy forces about four times their number at Khe Sanh, a remote outpost on a red clay bluff in the northwest corner of South Vietnam.

There, both sides prepare for what is expected to be the major battle of the Vietnam war.

The big question is: Will Khe Sanh be another Dien Bien Phu?

It was at Dien Bien Phu, a valley outpost similar in topography to Khe Sanh, though located in the mountains 180 miles northwest of Hanoi in what is now North Vietnam, that the end came for the French in Indochina. The French poured in paratroops to hold this bastion, but the Communists ringed the hills with heavy artillery and laid siege for 55 days.

On May 7, 1954, 10,000 Frenchmen surrendered. When the Viet Minh red flag went up, 3,000 French troops had died in the valley or on its hilly outposts. Another 7,000 later died in prison camps or on forced marches.

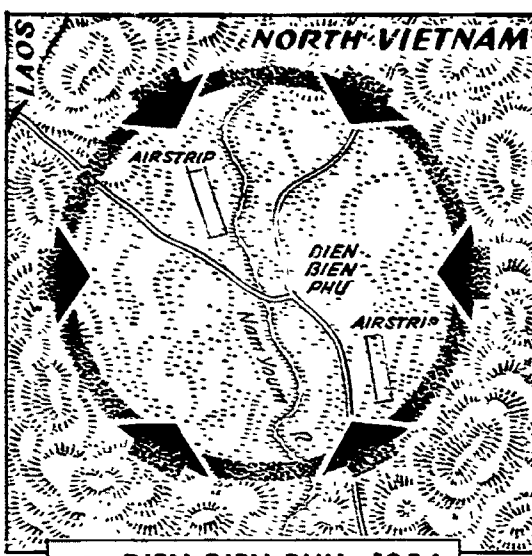

Two months later, the French were ready to leave Vietnam.

Now, nearly 14 years later, Dien Bien Phu is recalled at heavily-bunkered Khe Sanh.

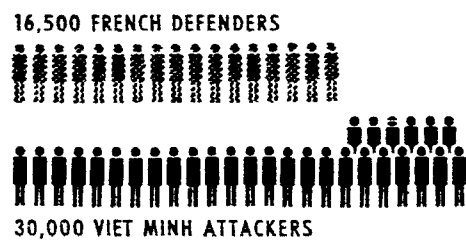

The American military command feels that the enemy is seeking another Dien Bien Phu at the Marine outpost. The Communists apparently believe that a U.S. defeat at Khe Sanh would have the same psychological effect on the American people as the one at Dien Bien Phu did on the French.

For this reason, and others more military, U.S. forces have committed themselves to holding Khe Sanh — at all costs.

In addition to the 5,000 or

This is one major difference between Khe Sanh and Dien Bien Phu. The French had no forces ready to go to the aid of the besieged garrison, which was defended by some 16,500 troops. The Viet Minh numbered about 30,000, under the command of Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap.

Once again, it is Giap in command of the Communist troops which now threaten Khe Sanh. Though the top North Vietnamese general has 10,000 fewer troops assembled now, another 20,000 are believed to be close at hand around the demilitarized zone.

Bob Pierce and Dena Smith

The deaths of Mrs. Dena Smith and Robert Pierce in the same week was a double shock for the Republican Party in Wisconsin and for their many friends in the opposing camp.

Mrs. Smith succeeded to the office of state treasurer in an election upon the death of her husband and she had been a fixture on the Republican Party's ballot of state office seekers ever since.

Bob Pierce well deserved the title of Mr. Republican often bestowed upon him. He had served a number of terms as national committeeman and was engaged in Washington in the business of making detailed arrangements for this summer's Republican National Convention when he died of a heart attack.

But Mr. Pierce's greatest contributions to his home state were in the field of higher education. As a long-time regent of the state university system and member of the Coordinating Committee for Higher Education he was one of the chief architects of the burgeoning state university system as we have come to know it today.

Mrs. Smith has been replaced as state treasurer by a distinguished state assemblyman, Harold Clemens. Mr. Pierce will not as easily be replaced.

The Oceans Are a Soup

About five years ago, Dr. Athelstane Spilhaus, then dean of the University of Minnesota's Institute of Technology, suggested at a conference of the American Fisheries Society that the old idea of land grant colleges be expanded to sea-grant colleges. This spring that idea is taking practical form and it could mean some extensive changes.

The Office of Sea Grant Programs, part of the National Science Foundation, is going through the list of applicants for some $5 million in first grants for marine science explorations. Certain schools have been designated as sea-grant colleges and will be able to expand their already well-developed programs in the marine sciences. To qualify for the status they will offer more programs to train marine technicians, oceanographers, marine biologists, carry on research in the oceans and help with advisory services. Other grant recipients will be nonprofit organizations which will carry on marine research.

Enthusiasts in the field see almost no limit to the possibilities as the vast oceans are more widely probed. Four-fifths of our life lives in the ocean, including 25,000 species of fish. The oceans, which cover 70 per cent of the earth's surface, are seen as great possibilities in the development of new foods to help feed the millions of people increasing in number every day. The seas are also the source of oil, and metallic ores. And while the Japanese eat seaweed and know it, Americans use it unwittingly as extracts in ice cream, toothpaste, diet drinks, printer's ink and baby foods.

Harold Goodwin, associate director of OSG, sees all kinds of possibilities. The sea "is a living biological soup that affects everything put into it. It may seem odd at first glance to expect such high productivity from the sea, but look at the salt water from a plant's viewpoint. . . there's never a drought program . . . fresh nutrients come in with the tide. . . the plant doesn't waste its energy fighting gravity. . . temperature changes are relatively slow. Would you believe sea berries the size of tennis balls? What about kernels of grain the size of grapes? Or one lettuce leaf big enough to supply the family salad for a week? How about an asparagus tip that would take a quart of sauce to make asparagus bear-naise? I'll admit I'm crawling out on a limb, but limbs grow bigger in salt water."

Dr. Spilhaus waxed even more poetic. "The oceans will offer us military, recreational, economic, artistic and intellectual outlets of unlimited scope. Thus they'll offer us more space than space itself in which to remain human. The sea — beautiful and dangerous, elegant and strong, bountiful and whimsical — not only challenges us but offers to every man in the street the exciting participation of being a man in the sea."

As such programs develop, however, it becomes more important than ever to adopt international agreements on the ownership of the sea and its floor. The old three mile limit has generally been discarded and agreements reached on offshore ocean shelves are far from satisfactory or accepted. Some nations claim nine miles off their coast; some go as far as ninety miles. There are international pacts on outer space but not about the oceans' bottoms.

The United Nations is the obvious agency to develop such agreements even without complete world membership. But it must have the cooperation, encouragement and something of a push from member nations, especially the United States and so far that has been lacking.

Nelson's Neutrality in Johnson, McCarty Fight Raises Questions

BY JOHN WYNGAARD

MADISON — Sen. Gaylord Nelson and other ranking office-holders of his party are attracting some flak because of their neutrality in the fight for the control of the Wisconsin Democratic national convention delegates between the boosters of President Johnson and Sen. Eugene McCarthy in the Wisconsin spring primary.

Quite obviously, Nelson and such congressional colleagues as Rep. Robert Kastenmeier and Rep. Henry Reuss have no intention of budging, whatever their private views and however they may vote in the privacy of the booths on April 2. Rep. Clement Zablocki of Milwaukee is firmly in the corner of the President, as a man anxious to prosecute the Vietnam war successfully. Sen. William Proxmire has said less about his own position, although he is also professedly neutral. But his situation is not as sensitive because he is not up for election this year.

There is an axiom in practical politics that votes are not transferable — at leastwise in a of their admirers and followers, without doubt, if they took a position for one or the other of the candidates on the presidential preference ballot here next month.

WHY BE NEUTRAL?

Yet, he is repeatedly asked about it. Why is he neutral? Why is he silent in view of his acknowledged reservations and worries about the escalation of the Asian war? Why especially is Rep. Kastenmeier, widely recognized as one of the leading "doves" in the Congress, unwilling to express himself against the leader of the war in what will amount to a referendum in his own state?

Sen. Nelson provides the standard reply that the primary election is a vehicle for the expression of their views by the rank and file of the people of Wisconsin and that he has had a life-long policy of avoiding involvement in primaries. He is correct enough.

It was only eight years ago, when he was under pressure from the Kennedy forces, the lesser although mightily influential backers of Adlai Stevenson, and from his good friend Hubert Humphrey, that he also avoided involvement in the primary election fight here, although at some cost to himself.

The junior senator also has plenty of precedents in Republican politics. Rep. Melvin R. Laird, who has been sounding like a Rockefeller booster lately, found it necessary a few days ago to distribute a formal statement that he has made a commitment to no one for the Republican presidential nomination.

Many other Wisconsin congressmen have served long careers without becoming entangled in the painful and costly web of pre-convention presidential politics. Alexander Wiley, whose former seat Nelson now occupies, spent 24 years in Washington without any participation in presidential nomination maneuvering, even when his good friend and protector, the late Sen. Robert Taft, made his classic fight in the Wisconsin primary for the Republican presidential nomination in 1952.

PRACTICAL ASPECT

So Sen. Nelson and his mates can stand on principle as well as precedent, without much objection or hurt to themselves.

But there is another and very practical consideration involved in their stance. Choosing between President Johnson and Sen. McCarthy could only antagonize greater numbers of expected supporters of one presidential campaign faction or the other, especially in the case of Sen. Nelson whose home base is Madison, the hottest center of anti-war sentiment in the state. (Madison aldermen have put a Vietnam war referendum on the local ballot for April.)

Nelson could gratify those many Madison friends and admirers by expressing some support for McCarthy, even by a slight gesture.

But he knows McCarthy won't win, here or in Chicago. Nelson wants the party regulars, who will be in the majority in the presidential primary, upon which to base his re-election campaign in the fall. To intervene in the primary now could only offend them, at great hurt to himself in what may be a dangerously hard November election drive.

Hopeless Lives Make Asiatics Communists

Editor, Post-Crescent:

I appreciate greatly your digest — editorial Feb. 19 — of the report of the 14 distinguished American scholars on our Asian policy, particularly with reference to Vietnam.

The key contention of these scholars as I deduced it was wholly familiar. In essence it is that until we have administered to the North Vietnamese and the Viet Cong a crushing defeat teaching them in this manner, and through them the world, a lesson in good conduct, a retreat is unthinkable. Failure to teach this lesson would be to invite everywhere endless repetition of this same sort of thing — a very familiar idea. Indeed, we have heard it so often and from so many sources that we are tempted to regard it as a self-evident truth. Is it true?

If one could discover what made the Viet Cong the Viet Cong one would have made considerable progress toward an answer. Did, for instance, the Viet Cong to war against the established government because they learned that some other group similarly situated elsewhere had staged a successful revolt? An emphatic "no" is the only possible answer. The Viet Cong revolted against what they thought to be an economic exploitation and a condition of living so hopeless and so frustrating that the danger of death in war became a not-too-terrifying alternative. What was true in Vietnam tends toward universality. Civil wars, that is to say, do not come by suggestion, by contagion or because of some "domino" effect. They spring from the grass roots of people's experiences, particularly as these experiences relate to the struggle to live. They are exclusively home-grown affairs.

If, then, there is any significant relationship between the manner of the war's termination in Vietnam and the conditions of peace throughout Asia, that relationship arises out of the relationship between this termination and that which above all else dictates human conduct — living conditions and hope. How decisive is that relationship? Does it even exist?

It can be said, I think, with the utmost confidence, that had not one American soldier set foot in Vietnam, conditions throughout the rest of Asia would be precisely what they are at present, the stresses and strains and dangers of war precisely what they are now. If our coming to Asia — Vietnam excepted — made no perceptible difference to the fundamental conditions in Asia how can our going become a thing of such terrifying importance? Especially how can one single detail of that going — the precise manner in which we finish our quarrel with the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese — magnify itself into such hair-raising significance?

There may be some reason — God forbid — why we must go on and on with the terrible business of destroying Vietnam. All I am pretending to say, is, that if there is such a reason, the 14 scholars have not found it.

Foundry Builds Steam Engine

100 YEARS AGO Quoted from the Appleton Crescent for Feb. 23, 1868.

The first steam engine for Appleton is now being built at Messrs. Ketchum, Knox & Morgan's Foundry on the Island.

The engine is designed for Messrs. Turner and Bauter's mill in Center. It will be about 40 horse power.

The patterns for portions of now are being gotten out, while other parts already have been made. The important thing is that our mechanics can do the work here as well as send it out of town. When it is completed we will mention more about the engine.

This same enterprising firm also has secured the furnishing of the machinery or iron work requisite for a large flouring mill, now building at Menasha, which will be a good job, as the mill is to have four or five runs of stone.

We should think the work would employ the foundry until next July just on these two jobs.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — President Johnson's riot commission ranks last summer's violence in Milwaukee as one of the eight "major disorders" in the United States during 1967. The Milwaukee Journal said Friday.

The Journal said it had obtained a copy of the Civil Disorders Commission's reports, which have been embargoed for publication at 5:30 p.m. Saturday. Only a 12,000-word summary was made public Thursday night.

The commission also found that almost every kind of "tension heightening incidents" which caused urban riots existed in Milwaukee prior to the July 31, outbreak. The Journal said, and listed the disorder with its four deaths as the third most lethal in the nation. Three persons, including one policeman, were shot to death, and one death was due to heart atack. Detroit ranked first with 43 deaths and Newark second with 25.

In a section on "the riot process," The Journal disclosed, the commission said it surveyed 24 disorders in 20 cities, including Milwaukee, and found an "accumulating reservoir of grievances in the Negro community."

"Grievances about police practices, unemployment and underemployment, housing and other ... conditions in the ghetto were aggravated in the minds of many Negroes by the inaction of municipal authorities."

The report said the Milwaukee riot was one of 12 in which "police actions were identified as the final incident" before the violence.

Of the 20 cities, Milwaukee was listed as one of nine in which "prior incidents involved activities by whites intended to discredit or intimidate Negroes or violence by whites against Negroes." It did not identify any of the Milwaukee incidents.

The commission said that Wisconsin employed "about 43 per cent" of its National Guard strength in controlling Milwaukee's outbreak, while only two states—California and Michigan—used more than 50 per cent of their Guard strength.

BY ALFRED SHEINWOLD

As an experienced player you know how helpful it is to refuse the first trick in the enemy's long suit at a notrump contract. The play is not so obvious when you have a long trump suit to protect you against their suit, but the hold-up play may still be advisable to prevent a ruff.

West opens the eight of hearts, and East puts up the queen. If you're sitting in a very comfortable chair you may be sleepy enough to win the first trick. This play would cost you the game and rubber.

You get to dummy with a club to lead the queen of spades for a finesse. West wins with the king of spades and leads his other heart to the king. Back comes a heart, and West ruffs.

You must eventually lose a diamond trick, and your best course is to raise an eyebrow at East. "Pretty skimpy opening bid, my friend," you say in a jocular tone. You may get enough of a laugh to distract your partner's attention from the fact that you should have made the contract.

Side Issue

If your partner looks thoughtful, tell him that on second thought you should have led out the ace and another trump instead of taking the trump finesse. This would protect you if West held K-x of trumps instead of K-x-x, but the point is unimportant in the actual hand.

If your partner still looks thoughtful, you can do nothing about it. He will tell you that you should refuse the first trick. You can say that West might have held a singleton heart, but he will point out that doubletons are far more common than singletons.

If East wins the first trick and returns a heart, you win with the jack and return the queen of spades. Whether you finesse or not, you are safe. When West takes his king of spades he cannot lead hearts and he cannot get East in to give him the ruff.

Anti-Froehlich Bid Reiterated By Newsman

Party in Wisconsin," Froehlich said.

Froehlich disclosed that when hearing of the report he immediately telephoned Ody Fish, state Republican Party chairman.

"He vehemently denied that the governor had ever made such a suggestion," Froehlich said, "We talked straight from the shoulder."

Froehlich suggested the Portage newspaper may have been misinformed about the handling of the Highway Bill for which it editorialized strongly.

Executive Meeting

He noted that the last meeting of the party's executive committee was held in December at Stevens Point and he could not attend because of legislative work at Madison.

Froehlich said as assembly speaker he is an ex-officio member and would make it a point to attend the committee's meeting in Milwaukee Monday before the Dirksen dinner program the state GOP has scheduled.

"Unless I find out something different then, I put no credence whatsoever in what the governor was purported to have said," Froehlich added.

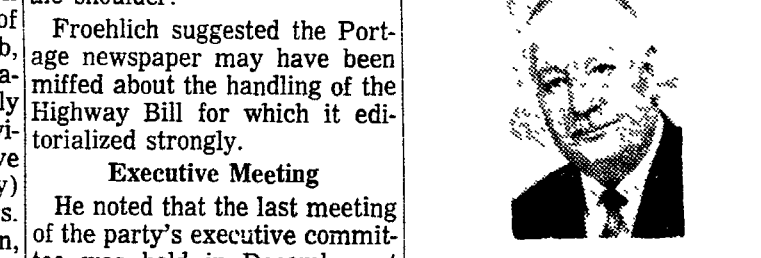

Some Differences

He said any legislator is bound to have differences with the governor. "Nobody constantly agrees ... you've got to have some differences because that's the legislative process," Froehlich added.

Froehlich expressed a similar opinion on Channell 11-TV at Green Bay when interviewed while en route to Oconto to attend a GOP caucus.

As an aside, the Portage paper attributed to its source that Gov. Knowles would not want to try for the Senate seat now held by Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis., because he does not want to become a freshman senator at the age of 59.

Well, they'll keep people from going to sleep, but there is a question whether this pill-induced wakefulness leaves people in the best condition to learn and understand.

Some of the pills can be dangerous.

My advice is to depend on nothing stronger than coffee to stay awake.

Just about all the accomplished teachers I know say that these late-at-night cramming sessions for exams really don't do much good anyway. If a student hasn't learned his subject during the regular term, he can't do much to help himself by staying up all night before the finals. Efficiency can be greatly reduced by such enforced wakefulness. Sometimes he's so groggy at exam time that he'd have done better by getting a decent night's sleep instead.

Dear Dr. Molner: I understand that some "health" diets advocate taking a spoonful or two of oil every day, perhaps vegetable or mineral oil, as a health aid. I thought our American diet was too rich in oil and fats as it is. However, my informant (not an M.D.) was pretty definite about taking it, along with other foods. Are there cases in which it is helpful? — N.H.

Nothing's sure except that we will always have death, taxes, and health food nuts.

Yes, our diet tends to be much higher than necessary in fats and oils, and unless a person is low in fats (an unusual circumstance) there would be no point in vegetable oils. As to mineral oil, that isn't absorbable, hence adds nothing to nutrition, and it can, by absorbing and carrying away Vitamin A, deplete our supply of that.

Let your friend ride that diet hobby; just stick to a well-balanced diet yourself and forget "health foods" fads.

Dear Dr. Molner: We have a dear friend who has cataracts and has difficulty reading without a magnifying glass. A friend of hers recently told her she should not use the magnifier because she also has diabetes, so she is now afraid to use it.

She also says she has good days and bad ones as to her ability to see. Do you think the glass could harm her? — M.H.

She should use the magnifier all she pleases, because it will not harm her.

The diabetes is possibly a contributing factor to development of the cataracts but that has nothing to do with using a glass.

It is well known, by the way, that visual acuity of a person with diabetes can fluctuate, depending on whether at the time the patient's blood sugar is high or low.

Dear Dr. Molner: I was troubled with varicose veins for years until they became unbearable so I had them removed. My doctor told me most folks do not follow his advice, which is WALK.

So I started, first around the block, then another block. It has been 12 years since the operation and now I walk back and forth to church which is two miles. I average at least three miles a day.

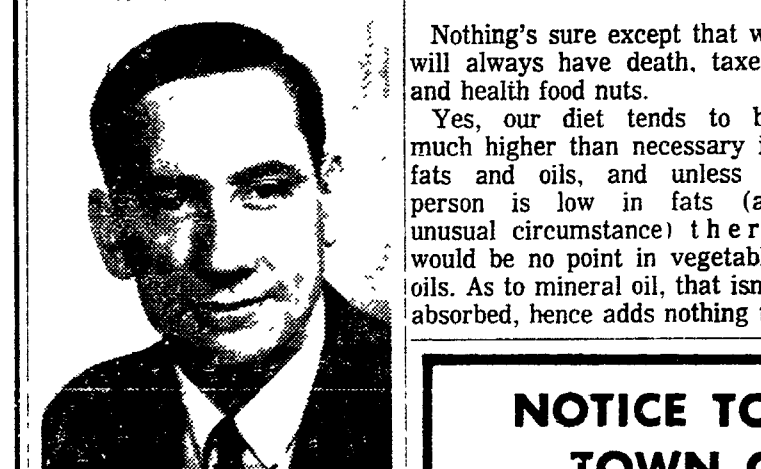

I have had three neighbors who have had the same operation and they are complaining all the time of pains in their legs. One lives at the end of the block but he always drives to my house.

So tell them to walk. I am 75 now.—I.G.H.

I have told people to walk. So has your doctor. Maybe it will do more good now that you've told 'em.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated where no point in vegetable oils. As to mineral oil, that isn't absorbable, hence adds nothing to

Dear Miss: You told him and I hope the kid reads this before he breaks his neck.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: When my wife answers the telephone and I am at home, she always asks, "Who is this?" I've told her a dozen times it doesn't matter who it is, I will talk to anybody. Some people don't like to be asked "who is this?" Furthermore, when she asks, it creates the impression that she doesn't trust me.

My wife says it is no more than good manners to identify one's self on the phone and if people are so ignorant that they don't know enough to do this, she sees nothing wrong in asking them.

Thanks for refereeing this one. — Half Gaynor

Dear Half: Your wife is right. It is good manners to identify one's self on the phone, but not all people know this, unfortunately.

There's more than one way to skin a cat, however. A caller will respond much more kindly to "May I tell him who is calling, please?" than to "Whos is this?"

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope. (Copyright, 1968) halt separation of the races, including programs to provide 2 million jobs, 6 million housing units, better slum schools and a welfare system designed to guarantee "a minimum standard of decent living."

One commission member, Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okl., said many of the recommendations can be met by adopting legislation already before Congress, such as the civil rights bill.

Need Money

"If we do run into programs that need money," Harris said, "we should enact the necessary taxes."

Another commissioner, Rep. William W. McCullough, R-Ohio, agreed with Harris many recommendations are before Congress "in one form or another."

Rep. James C. Corman, D-Calif., also a commission member, singled out help for the police, jobs for young people and summer education as "the most important aspects which need immediate attention before this summer."

Sen. Edward S. Muskie, D-Maine, called the report a "blunt appraisal of the injustices blighting the total environment of inner-city residents." And Sen. Abraham A. Ribicoff, D-Conn., called for steps to "let each individual walk with dignity."

'Propaganda'

Reaction from Southern members of Congress was harsh.

"Propaganda ad nauseam," declared Rep. F. Edward Hebert, D-La.

The report, said Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., is unrealistic, highly exaggerated and "did the country a disservice."

"The answer to every problem seems to be to spend more of the taxpayers' money," said Rep. William M. Colmer, D-Miss. "There just isn't enough money to go around."

Sen. Russell B. Long, D-La., said the commission advocated "a turn-the-other cheek to lawlessness. It offers little encouragement to the millions of Americans who believe the way to stop riots is to use strong methods ..."

father who is so selfish and cold? — Icy Winds

Dear Icy: By being twice as generous and considerate to make up for Harold's unfortunate limitations. Make certain your husband doesn't deny you the right to do the things you want to do. If he doesn't wish to lend a screwdriver to a neighbor that's up to him. But if you want to befriend a young girl who had a baby out of wedlock, (or anyone else, for that matter) that's up to you.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I would like to address a few remarks to the college student whose roommate stood on his head a lot and made terrible crashing noises when he fell to the floor. The boy may be improving his thinking processes by allowing the blood to circulate through his brain, but he may wreck his spine.

Sammy Davis Takes French Lessons

BY TV SCOUT

8:30-9:30 — Channels 11-9 — Sammy Davis Jr. shows up as host on the Hollywood Palace and sets it blazing, particularly in a segment, almost a quarter of the show, with Diahann Carroll devoted to "Porgy and Bess," and including "Summer-time," "Plenty of Nothin'" and "It Ain't Necessarily So." This alone is worth the whole show. Among the other features are: Peter Lawford giving Sammy a French lesson. The Checkmates singing "Soul Man" and Dan Rowan and Dick Martin's famed "man - on-the-street interview." (C)

4-5:30 — Channels 11-9 — ABC's Wide World of Sports continues its coverage of winter sports competition with the World Figure Skating Championships from Geneva, Switzerland. Among the participants are most of the recent Olympics competitors including Peggy Fleming, Tina Noyes, Janet Lynn and Tim Wood of the United States and Emmerich Danzer of Austria. The pairs competition includes Russia's Protopopovs and Cynthia and Ronald Kauffman of the U.S. (C)

6:30-7:30 — Channels 2-7 — The Jackie Gleason Show continues its rerun odyssey of the traveling "Honeymooners." The Kramdens and Nortons have hit Paris, first stop of their "round-the-world tour. Brisk tunes by Lyn Duddy and Jerry Besler aid this romp which might have stood on its own script (particularly the comments on the French) and performances of Jackie and company. (C)

6:30-7:30 — Channel 5 — Don't get up for a snack while The Saint is on if you want the whole spooky story. There is so much involved although not all is pertinent, that you just might be gone, even for a few seconds, when the gist of the grisly plot is revealed. It concerns a drowned fishing fleet owner whose body has a way of popping up here and there and disappearing again before anyone can grab it. There are also involvements with his widow, a rival fleet owner, an accommodating physician and of course, Simon Templar. Gabrielle Drake is featured as the widow

Extended School Year Analysis for Neenah Keys on Three Plans

NEENAH — The study of four-quarter plan, all have extended school for the Neenah School System has centered on three differing plans. Each of the three — the four-quarter plan, the 12-4 plan with rotating attendance and the extended summer session — offer different opportunities and problems.

After presenting an initial report of the full school board Tuesday, a special study committee decided to arrive at some specific cost figures for the various plans. Descriptions of the various plans and their merits and demerits are as follows.

The four-quarter plan, most often proposed, would operate the schools throughout the entire year, but each child would spend the same amount of time attending classes as under the traditional nine-month school year. Vacation periods would be staggered throughout the year, with three-fourths of the pupils in school and one-fourth on vacation.

Plan Dropped
Thirteen school districts in the nation have tried some form of

Center Conference Set on Bargaining, Labor Law Changes

Union members and officers from Appleton and the surrounding area will examine current collective bargaining procedures and labor law developments in a two-day institute beginning March 16 at the University of Wisconsin-Fox Valley Center.

It will stress practical problems which the unions face in dealing with management and government agencies. Methods of improving the administration of labor laws and the shortcoming of existing laws also will be discussed.

Topics for the institute include an introduction to the labor laws, the Taft-Hartley Law and collective bargaining; the Industrial Landrum-Griffin Law and the union's rights and responsibilities; industrial safety including the law, administrative codes, accident experience and union responsibility in protecting workers; unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation under Wisconsin law and procedure.

Participants in the institute will include full-time union representatives, business agents, stewards, local union officers and union members.

Co-sponsors for the program are the school for workers, University Extension, the University of Wisconsin, and the Wisconsin State AFL-CIO.

The School for Workers offers state-wide programs in steward training, union administration, collective bargaining, labor law and other union subjects for the labor leader and union member.

Want More State Athletes at UW, Badger Football Coach Declares

NEENAH — The importance of getting more state athletes to attend the University of Wisconsin was stressed by John Coatta, UW football coach, at a joint service club luncheon Friday.

Coatta declared that Wisconsin's great 1942 football team was built around players from the Badger State as were the famed "Hard Rocks" of 1951 and the Rose Bowl representatives of 1959 and 1962.

"We're very pleased that Dan Jankowski of Neenah will attend the university," the ex-Badger quarterback commented. "He is one of the outstanding high school athletes in the country and also is an outstanding student." Coatta pointed out that the Rocket star compiled one of the highest scores on entrance examinations of any of the incoming Badger athletic aspirants.

"Neenah's Gary Losse did a fine job for the freshman team last fall and we expect a fine contribution from him in the future," the coach said.

He noted that it's asking a lot for freshmen to step into starting roles in their first year on the varsity because as freshmen they are playing against freshmen while as sophomores they are also competing against seniors and juniors. Coatta said the coaches feel this year's frosh team will provide lots of help in the next two and three years.

Faced Adversity
Referring to last year's winless season, Coatta said the Badgers faced adversity every

YWCA Program Begins For Boys, Girls in Grades Three to Six

NEENAH-MENASHA — An intermediate youth program for boys and girls in grades three through six will begin at the YWCA-Community Center at 9 a.m., March 9.

The boys and girls from private and public schools will have a four hour program, including games in the gymnasium, swimming, knitting for the girls and model building for the boys. They will have lunch in the teen center and see a movie.

Of special interest to the sixth grade girls will be a course called "a prettier you."

It will be continued for five Saturdays, Mrs. Ralph Gooding, chairman of the intermediate youth committee, said. Those participating must have junior associate memberships in the YWCA.

Registration will be Monday through Friday at the center.

Twin City Churches Find Low Rent Housing Needs

NEENAH - MENASHA — The manhunt for senior citizens needing and interested in low rent housing has made better headway in recent weeks since local churches joined the search.

Nearly 30 parishes whose pastors belong to the Twin City Clergymen's Association have been asked to poll churchgoers, and results are beginning to appear.

The Rev. John C. Hanchett, of Congregational United Church of Christ, said he had been given about 20 names since the churches first spread the appeal two weeks ago. It was hoped this Sunday might add more names to the list.

They asked for names and addresses of persons who might be interested in living in low rent housing quarters for the elderly. It was hoped the information might be provided by elderly persons speaking for themselves, as well as others who know of senior citizens who might be interested.

Housing authorities have been established in both cities, with the greater activity evident in Menasha. It was the Menasha Housing Authority that asked the Rev. Mr. Hanchett, an ex-officio member, to ask help from the churches.

Persons identified through the churches would be contacted by housing authority members later, to learn more about their needs and interest.

The housing would probably be in new apartments that

Kaukauna to Study Jail Remodeling

City Facility Fails
To Meet State Requirements

KAUKAUNA — Members of the public protection and safety committee voted Thursday night to recommend to the council that the State Department of Health and Social Services be contacted in regard to revamping city jail facilities.

The city has been notified that its present jail does not meet state requirements for keeping prisoners overnight. As a result, prisoners must be taken to the Outagamie County jail.

The committee will study state recommendations in an effort to determine whether cost of the project would warrant improvements.

Members also voted to have one police vehicle equipped with red flasher lights while the second auto will be unmarked.

The committee voted to commend Michael Gerharz, Civil Defense director, and citizens in general for cooperation with the national Civil Defense program by returning 86.6 per cent of the questionnaires mailed to residents.

present deferments in the county. The April quota of 1,049 men for the county means "tightening up on everything," one board member said.

The local draft boards have been ordered, in particular, to review all occupational deferments for teachers next month.

Each individual teacher's case will be looked at, the board member said.

The federal government suspended last month its list of critical occupations, leaving the discretion to the local boards.

The State Department of Public Instruction has asked each school district to document why individual teachers should be deferred.

The Winnebago Board has still not found it necessary to draft married men without children, but county officials would not predict whether it would be necessary under the higher April induction.

Men who were married after Aug. 25, 1965, who still have no children are being taken by some draft boards in the county.

One position on the five-man county board is open, with a replacement expected soon for Harry Korotev of Neenah who left the board Jan. 1. The new man will be from the Twin City area, a board member said.

The national draft call for April is 48,000 men, near the record month for the Vietnam War.

5 Nominated to C of C Board

Election Scheduled
April 9 at Group's Annual Meeting

Five Appleton businessmen have been nominated for the Appleton Area Chamber of Commerce board of directors. The membership vote will be held at the chamber's annual meeting at the Conway hotel April 9.

Delay Foreseen In Program of UW-Green Bay

Need Law Change
For School's New Educational Concepts

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — A new roadblock has been thrown in the path of program development of the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay.

Atty. Gen. Bronson La Follette Friday told state educational officials new programs being planned at the UW-GB and a sister campus in Kenosha County cannot legally be developed until the Legislature approves the establishment.

The informal opinion was directed to Angus Rothwell, director of the State Coordinating Council for Higher Education. Rothwell had raised the question after the chancellors of the two campuses planned for opening in September, 1969, presented plans calling for new concepts in educational administration and direction.

At the UW-Green Bay Chancellor Edward W. Weidner has called for the development of colleges of community science, environmental science, human biology and creative communication and a school of professional studies.

Follow UW
At the UW-Parkside Chancellor Irvin Wylie has proposed the establishment of a college of science and industry and a school of modern industry.

The act creating the two campuses requires that their programs be established in directions consistent with courses offered at the University of Wisconsin.

The section of state law governing the University of Wisconsin spells out that "no new school or college shall be established unless authorized by the Legislature."

La Follette decided therefore that the coordinating council could approve program development at the two new campuses but that the approval must be restricted to school and college systems already established at the UW.

The new programs cannot be approved until the Legislature changes the law — and the Legislature does not plan to return in session until January, 1969.

Rothwell commented that development plans could continue but that the programs would have to be restricted to the department level.

"They won't be able to call themselves schools or colleges until the laws have been changed," said Rothwell.

Terrors Meet Papermakers; Neenah Whips Wolves

BY RON WITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

Few of the estimated 2,300 spectators who crowded into the new Appleton East gymnasium Friday night for two regional tournament prep basketball games really expected to witness close outcomes. There were no surprises.

In the first encounter, Appleton West's Terrors embarrassed Brillion, by a 69-26 margin; and in the second contest, Kimberly rolled over Shiocton, 64-47, thus sending the two winners into a showdown for the regional crown at 8:30 p.m. today at the same site. Brillion and Shiocton, both members of the Little Nine Conference, will tangle in a consolation match at 7 p.m.

Neither of the games were very much in doubt after the first few minutes. Both the Terrors and Papermakers grabbed leads at the start, were never headed and were never really threatened.

Post 27-18 Advantage

Coach Dick Emanuel's club had to work for a 27-18 advantage by the close of the first half against Brillion, but after that the Lions made things easy, scoring only eight points in the final 16 minutes. During the last 7:40 of the fourth period, West poured through 22 points while holding Brillion scoreless.

Coach Jack Wippich's charges shot ahead 14-3 a little over four minutes after the opening tip, and the closest the Chiefs could come thereafter was the same 11-point margin late in the second period at 39-28. It was 44-28 at the intermission.

West received double-figure scoring from three players, with Tom Hintz leading the ton West's Terrors embarrassed Brillion, by a 69-26 margin; and in the second contest, Kimberly rolled over Shiocton, 64-47, thus sending the two winners into a showdown for the regional crown at 8:30 p.m. today at the same site. During the last 7:40 of the fourth period, West poured through 22 points while holding Brillion scoreless.

The Lions showed spunk in the second canto, coming back to within four points at 19-15, thanks to the shooting of Hansen and mate Dick Klein. It was still close, at 23-18, with a minute left, when a pair of fifty passes from Ade Dillon to Mark Schroeder underneath put the Terrors up by nine at intermission.

From then on, it was no contest, as Brillion lost its shooting eye. The Lions got only two baskets and a free throw in the third quarter. West, meantime, pumped in 20 points.

With the count at 47-23 to begin the last quarter, Bergelin sank his first gift shot but missed the second. Hansen threw the rebound back in with 7:40 showing. From that juncture, all that the Lions marked the rest of the way was five fouls and five missed free throws.

Kimberly's start was similar to West's, as the Papermakers went up, 4-0, on a pair of Jeff VandenHeuvel buckets in the first 29 seconds. John Schmidt's jumper moments later cut the deficit to 6-3, but Kimberly came back with 10 points in succession and the writing was on the wall.

OSHKOSH — A sterling 7-minute scoring spree in the first half plus mastery of the backboards broke up what had the makings of a tight game and gave Neenah High School a 75-43 verdict over Winneconne in the Oshkosh WIAA regional tournament Friday night.

The Rockets, who upped their record to 18-2, now duel Fond du Lac, 77-64 conqueror of Montello in the other semi-final affair, at 7:30 p.m. today for the regional championship and a place in the Manitowoc sectional next weekend.

The Neenah-Winneconne fracas started out to be a sizzler. The score was tied at every even-numbered digit from 2-2 until 12-12 as neither club was able to connect twice in a row.

Winneconne took a 14-12 lead on a jump shot by Bob Poehlman but then the devastating Rockets ignited.

Taking advantage of several steals and Winneconne mistakes, the Twin Citizens notched seven straight points to lead, 19-14, at the close of the first period.

During its upsurge, Neenah's control of the rebounding department became apparent and until the ragged last period, when reserves were in the game for both teams, the Little Nine Conference co-champions didn't get many second shots.

Big Dale Magedanz and Dan Jankowski did yeoman service off the boards and the Rocket defense also harassed the Winneconne shooters, who had been so successful from the outside in the early going.

With Magedanz, who had hit four baskets in the first quarter, leading the way, the Rockets extended their scoring chain to 13 straight points by notching the first seven of the second stanza, for a 25-14 lead.

Jeff Allen finally broke the Wolves' draught with a free throw, but the rockets dumped in the next eight points for a 33-15 score before Allen tallied from the floor.

Neenah went ahead by 20 points on the next two baskets whereupon the Wolves rallied for seven in a row. Tom Kopitzke's goal at the horn gave Coach Doug Martin's charges a 39-24 halftime bulge.

Jankowski, who had been stopped with a basket and free throw in the first half, took charge in the third period, scoring 11 points as the Twin Citizens built up a 19-10 edge and a 58-34 advantage going into the final segment.

Both coaches removed their starters a couple of minutes deep into the final stanza and the reserves struggled through frequent turnovers and numerous free throws the rest of the way.

Complementing the powerful rebounding of Neenah's big boys was the aggressive floor play of the other three starters, Dan Blank, Lee Olson and Mark Eastwood. The latter made several steals from the unsuspecting in Winneconne guards.

Magedanz captured scoring honors with 19 points. He again blocked several shots. Jankowski added 14 points and Blank hit 10. Eleven of the 12 boys to see action made at least one tally.

Allen's 11 points and 10 by Poehlman were tops among the Winneconne scorers.

9 of 20 Free Throws

If the Rockets had a failing, it was their free throw shooting as they hit less than 50 per cent for the second straight week. The chart showed nine successes and 11 misses. The figures were reversed for Winneconne. From the floor, the victors were almost at the 50 per cent level, sinking 33 of 70. They had 27 of 53 going into the last quarter.

Winneconne started strong, dunking seven of 12 in the first period. Its shooting fell off to three of 17 in the second and two of 16 in the fourth, finishing with 16 of 58.

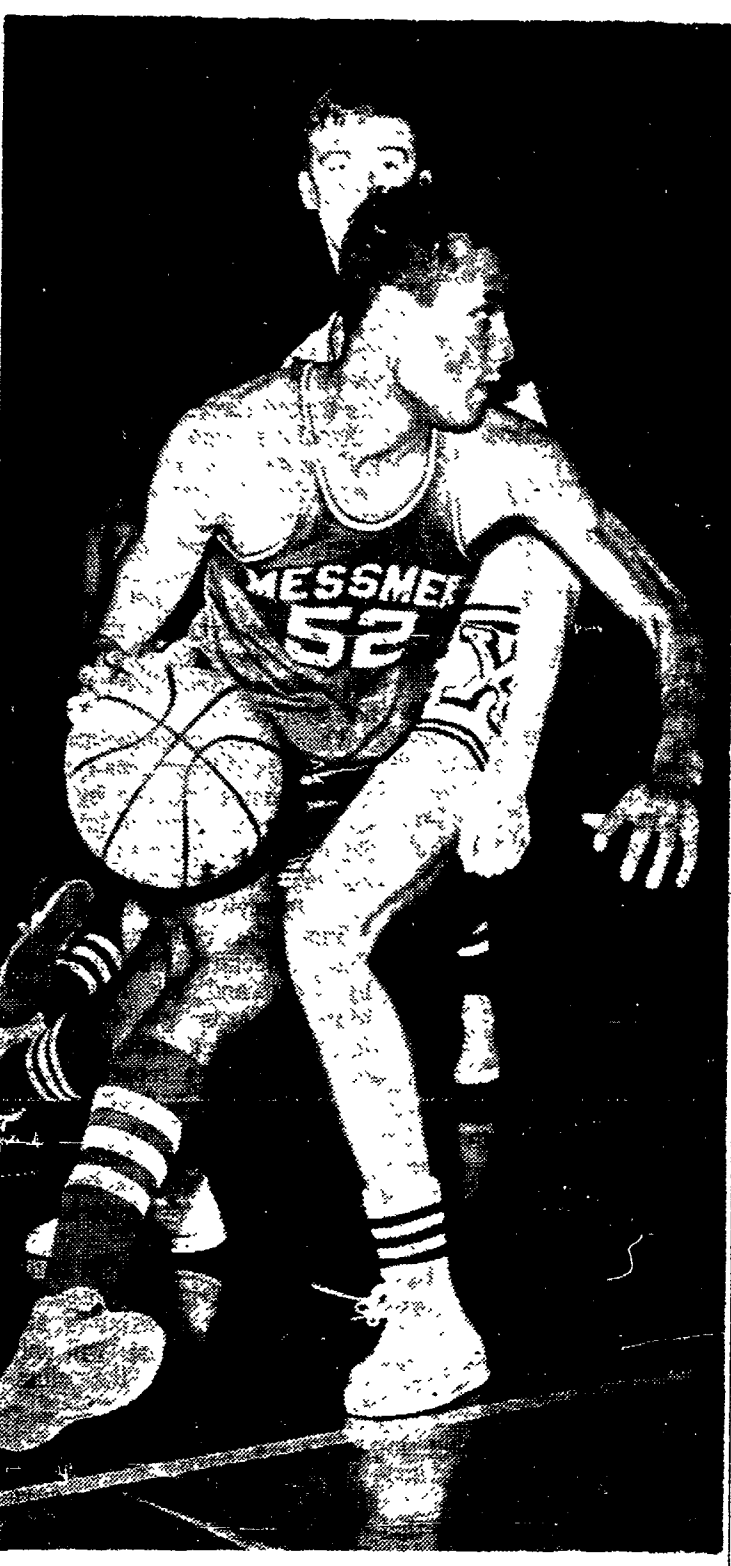

Excellent outside shooting by Kim Evans, who accounted for 29 points, and the great inside work of Bob Bendrick, who added 22 markers, keyed Fondy's win over Montello. The Cardinals now have a 10-10 record.

Bishops Break From 29-All First Half Tie to 68-53 Tourney Win

BY JOHN L. PAUSTIAN
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

MILWAUKEE — The flashy, springy-legged Bishops of Milwaukee Messmer lived up to their reputation as state Catholic high school basketball tournament favorites Friday night as they snapped Appleton Xavier's winning streak at 15 games, 68-53, in the quarter-finals at the Milwaukee Arena.

After being held to a 29-29 standoff in the first half by the battling Hawks, tourney-wise Messmer broke free in the final two periods for a decisive point edge of 39-24. The Bishops, (21-2) with four regulars back from their 1967 state tourney team that finished as runnerup to Marquette, face La Crosse Aquinas (21-2) in a 9 p.m. semi-finals game today.

Xavier (21-2) which lost a state-meet opener for the second straight year and for the third time in six appearances, goes against Eau Claire Regis (16-7) in the consolation bracket at 3:30 p.m. today.

Accuracy Edge

Though Messmer enjoyed a big edge in field goal accuracy (47 per cent to 29 per cent), the Bishops' most vital superiority came in the rebounding department. Led by their three jumping-jack front-liners, the Bishops snapped up 48 rebounds — while the Hawks retrieved only 30.

DuWayne Nash was the only Bishop starter unable to score in double figures but he more than made up for that deficiency by grabbing 17 rebounds. Henry Davis and Roberto Wool-

Truckers Duel Pulaski

Clintonville Quint Upsets De Pere to Gain Meet Finals

BY ROGER PITT
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

CLINTONVILLE — Trucker City fans believe in fairy tales more than ever after watching back-to-back spectacular come-from-behind victories by two underdogs Friday in the opening eliminations in the WIAA regional contests here.

Fairy god-father Carl Bruggink waved his wand again Friday, and the Truckers responded with an unexpected 95-83 conquest of De Pere in the opening game.

Tom Banaszynski propelled the Pulaski Red Raiders past Marinette and into the championship bracket by tossing in 29 points, 22 of which came in the second half, to pace an 81-78 upset victory over the powerful independent entry.

Banaszynski sat out much of the first half after committing his fourth foul with 6:27 left in the opening half.

Fall Behind Early

Pulaski and Clintonville followed almost identical roads in getting into the finals. Both fell behind early in the contest and then chipped away until they gained the advantage.

Clintonville finished with a 3-11 M-E conference record but somewhere along the line the Cinderella team found itself, and has played exceptionally well.

Marinette's nightmare began to unfold early in the third stanza, as the Red Raiders bombarded the nets and hit a spectacular 21 of 34 shots in the second half to come back from a 46-29 deficit at the intermission.

Marinette literally fell apart as the pressure mounted, while

Mustangs Down Gresham, 66-53

Marion Duels Wautoma '5'

MARION — The Mustangs, of Marion High School, and the Hornets of Wautoma will each seek their 19th victories and the Marion regional championship tonight after Friday night's first round WIAA triumphs.

Marion improved its overall record to 18-3 with a 66-53 win over Gresham, while Wautoma boosted its mark to 18-2 by eliminating Rosholt, 68-60.

The Central Wisconsin and Vacationland Conference titleholders meet here tonight (at 7:30) for the right to advance to the Wisconsin Rapids sectional next weekend.

Taking a 20-8 first quarter lead, Marion wasted little time in building a lead which it held the entire game. Gresham managed to cut the margin to seven points at half, 34-27, and rallied to within three, 36-33, early in the third period before the Mustangs hit 10 straight points and constructed a 13-point edge.

Four Marion players scored in double figures, led by Randy Peterson with 18 points, tops in the game. John Braun collected 15, Bruce West 13 and Randy Much 10. Terry Sousek paced the Wildcats with 17.

Rosholt grabbed a fast 11-3 lead over Wautoma in its opening minutes of play, but couldn't hold on to it as Wautoma fought back to within three at the end of the quarter, 14-11.

The winners trailed by four at half, 31-27, before outscoring Rosholt 20-12 in the third stanza to take the lead which it held the rest of the way.

Tom Pearson led Wautoma with 24 points, followed by Kent Peterson's 15, Darrell Hawley topped Rosholt with 22.

Jones Boys Pace Bucs Into Tie for Lead

Beloit Shoots .678, Tops Vikes, 89-78

BY JIM HARP
Post-Crescent Staff Writer

With the Jones boys, Kit and Jim, putting on a tremendous display of shooting and rebounding, the Beloit College basketball team scored an 89-78 Midwest Conference victory over Lawrence University at Alexander Gymnasium Friday night.

Kit popped in 16 field goals, and his brother Jim dropped in 13 as they scored 61 of the Buccaneer points between them.

Mike Andrews and Bob Townsend did their best for the Vikes, hitting 25 and 22 points, respectively, but it was not enough to offset the brilliant display by the Jones duo.

The victory enabled the Bucs to move into a tie for the conference lead with Monmouth, as both teams have 12-5 records. Each will wind up regular season play today.

Lawrence now has a 5-12 conference mark and was to close its campaign at 1:30 p.m. today, with a home game against Coe College.

The Jones boys let it be known right from the start that they intended to do some scoring against the Vikes. Out of the first 25 points Beloit scored, Kit and Jim had 20, and this trend continued as Kit hit nine field goals in the first half and Jim had six. Between them they had 31 markers in the first 20 minutes of action.

Hits 63 Per Cent

Beloit hit a fantastic 63 per cent in the first half, with 21 of 33 from the floor, and then did even better in the last half with 19 buckets out of 28 shots. This gave the Bucs a brilliant 40 of 59 for the game, nearly 68 per cent.

Lawrence shot well enough to win most ball games with 32 buckets in 64 attempts for an even 50 per cent.

Beloit jumped off to an 8-3 lead, but the Vikes stayed within range and were trailing by only three points at 20-17. At this point the Bucs went to work and scored eight straight points to open up an 11-point lead which they maintained until halftime.

The score at the intermission was 46-35 and the Beloit lead would have been larger had not Don Brooke hit two buckets and Townsend one in the last minute.

The Vikes battled back in the first 10 minutes of the last half and at one time had the Beloit lead down to five points at 64-59.

Back in Control

Harlan Ludewig, captain of the Bucs, then went to work and hit four buckets within a 2-minute span while Lawrence was held to one field goal, by Townsend, and Beloit was back in control.

Andrews hit seven of his 11 field goals in the first half. He took 10 shots in the opening segment and most of his buckets were from long range as the

McKee Captures Two Titles in MC Meet

CHICAGO (AP)—Carleton won six events and tied for first in another to sweep to its third straight Midwest Conference track championship Friday night.

Carleton, also taking four of the five relays, compiled 74½ points in the meet at the University of Chicago. It was followed by St. Olaf with 40½, Cornell 29, Lawrence 28, Ripon 14½, Grinnell and Monmouth each 12, and Coe 4. Knox and Beloit did not score.

Chicago, competing unofficially, scored 44½.

The only meet record went to St. Olaf's Dave Johnson in the shot put. He tossed 50 feet, 3 inches to top the old mark of 49-3¾ by Jeff Thiel of Carleton in 1965.

The only double winner was Chuck McKee of Lawrence in the long jump and 60-yard low hurdles.

Leroy Kelly Signs 4-Year Brown Pact

CLEVELAND (AP) — Half-back Leroy Kelly signed a new four-year contract Friday with the Cleveland Browns.

Salary terms were not disclosed, but Kelly, the National Football League's top rusher last season with 1,205 yards, said he was "very pleased" to be staying with the Browns.

Kelly, 25, signed a contract with the club in 1966 but chose to play out his option last season instead of signing a new contract.

and the score was knotted for the last time, 31-31.

The Hawks then were off target on their next 15 field shots, and by the time Bartosic was able to end the drought, Messmer had worked up an 11-point advantage (43-32).

The 6-foot-4 Davis, with a 10-for-17 night from the floor and a 6-for-7 performance from the foul line was the game's outstanding player, with 26 points. Steve Prekop, a dangerous little guard, tallied 13 points; Bill Blatnig, a surprise starter at the other guard, added 12; and Woolfork, a 2-time all-state tourney choice, checked in with 11.

Scores 18 Points Three Hawks reached double figures. Pat Fitzgerald, on the strength of a brilliant, 15-point first half, finished with 18. Tom Thomson scored 12 points with four of his five baskets coming in the final quarter. Bartosic totaled 11 points. Bob Fullerton and Bartosic led Hawk rebounders, with nine and eight, respectively.

Xavier led only three times — at 2-1, 4-3 and 6-5. The Hawks' last edge came with the game only 2 minutes, 35 seconds old, but they knotted the score five times after that (at 7, 23, 25, 29 and 31).

It was upnill most of the way for the Hawks, but they fought back repeatedly in the first half to thrill the crowd of more than 6,591 fans. Messmer, for example, broke ahead by six (18-12) with 1:15 left in the first quarter. But Xavier ignited an 11-5 spree that was climaxed by Bartosic's corner swisher for a 2-all tie midway through the second period.

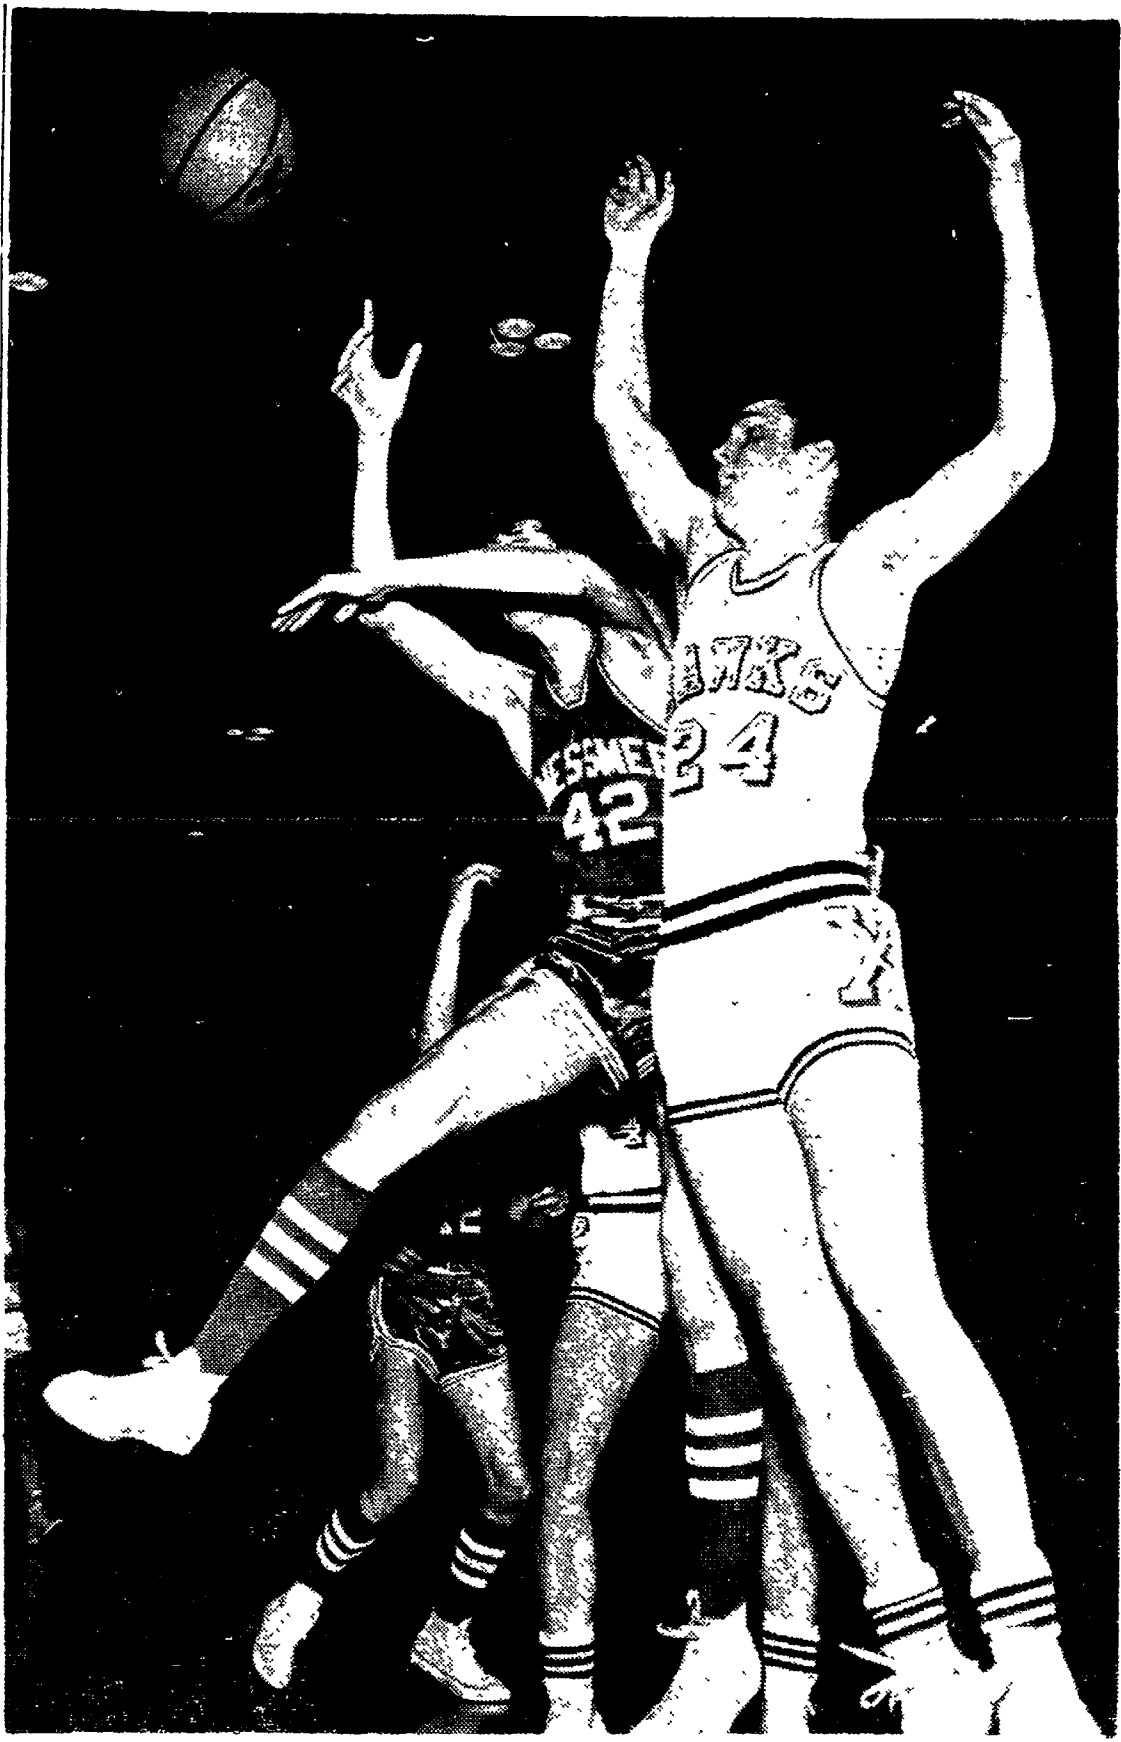

Fitzgerald, who sank seven of 12 first-half shots in a dazzling display of firing from all angles, took charge to account for the Hawks' final three baskets of the half. He sank the game-tying (29-21) 2-pointer at the half-time horn after the Hawks had engineered a steal.

Davis and Bartosic traded 20-footers at the outset of the second half, and it appeared that the glove-tight game pattern would continue. But Davis put Messmer ahead for good with a tip-in (at the 1:01 mark of the quarter). Blatnig followed with a short jumper, Davis sank a free throw, Prekop hit from long range and sank a free throw. Suddenly Messmer was ahead by eight (39-31).

Bartosic interrupted the Bishop barrage with a free throw, but Davis and Prekop popped in two more buckets while the cold Hawks kept missing.

Bartosic put Xavier back on the board, hitting from well out, and with 1:01 left in the quarter, the Hawks trailed by nine. The quarter ended with Messmer holding that same spread (45-36).

The hopeful Hawks kept with- in eight, nine and 10 points in the first 3:15 of the final quarter. Then the Bishops put the decision out of reach with a

Fleming on Way to Third World Title; Wood Second

GENEVA, Switzerland (AP) — Barring an attack of locusts or something equally unforeseen, Peggy Fleming will win her third straight world figure skating title today.

The 19-year-old Olympic champion from Colorado Springs, Colo., is so far ahead of 10-2 point deluge (spurred by Prekop and Davis) that boosted their margin to 18 points (62-44) with 2:30 left.

MESSMER (18-11-16-23-68) Woolfork 5 1 2; Davis 10 6 2; Nash 2 2 2; Prekop 5 3 1; Blatnig 5 2 2; Mosely 0 0 1. Totals 27 14 10. FTM 7.

the competition with only today's free-skating competition remaining that the title is virtually hers.

Tim Wood of Bloomfield Hills, Mich., did not fare so well in his bid for the men's title. Despite a valiant attempt in the free skating, Wood lost narrowly to Emmerich Danzer of Austria, the defending champion.

Danzer finished with 12 ordin- als and 2,195 2 points to Woods' 15 ordinals and 2,189.9 points. Wood, trying to make up a deficit, attempted some daring leaps in his free skating, but one slip kept him from the necessary points.

"I think I was good enough to win despite the slip," Wood said afterwards. "I skated my full program and made no other mistakes."

Miss Fleming was near perfect in completing the compulsory figures Friday and each of the judges rated her first. She had 1,209.7 points to runner-up Gaby Seifert's 1,134.8 points. The East German girl in turn led Beatrix Schuba of Austria with 1,119.1 points.

Kaukauna Cage Tourney Finals Slated Sunday

4-Way Title Tie Possible In the MC

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Beloit College bucked its way into a first-place tie in the Midwest Conference basketball standings Friday night helping set up one of the hottest title showdowns in the loop's history.

Should Monmouth and Beloit lose in games today, and Cornell and St. Olaf win, there would be a four-way tie for the loop's top rung.

Beloit achieved a share of the lead with an 89-78 victory over ninth-place Lawrence, and Ripon replaced Coe in seventh place with an 85-80 victory in over- slated at 8:15.

Milwaukee North Stops Shorewood

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wisconsin's Davids took on the Goliaths in the Wisconsin public high school basketball tournament Friday night. The Goliaths won.

Top-ranked Milwaukee North stamped out fifth-ranked Shorewood 80-71 in the only battle between rated major schools on the statewide slate of 64 regional semifinals games.

Other key games matched ranked big schools against ranked small schools. Only once did a small school even come close.

Seventh-ranked Beloit almost fell before South Wayne Black Hawk, the state's fifth-ranked small school, but eked out a 66-62 victory.

Elsewhere it was second-ranked Manitowoc 90-62 over Kiel, the No. 2 small school; fourth-ranked Eau Claire Memorial 93-62 over Glenwood City, the ninth-ranked small power and the team that ruined a Memorial trip to Madison last February in sectional play and ninth-ranked Schofield 56-46 over Port Edwards, the top-ranking small school team.

The results left only eight ranked teams still in the running as the tournament heads into 32 regional finals tonight. The survivors begin play next Friday night for sectional honors and admission to the annual eight-team meet in Madison beginning March 14.

The other ranked survivors besides North (20-0), Manitowoc (20-0), Eau Claire Memorial (18-1), Beloit (17-3) and Schofield (21-1) are Kohler (19-1), a 69-53 winner over Cedar Grove; Barneveld (20-1), a 62-48 winner over Albany, and Wausaukee (19-1), a 100-79 winner over Wabeno.

Ranked losers Friday included Trempealeau, ranked last in the "Little Ten," a 68-61 loser to Sparta.

The regional semifinals left only Milwaukee Lincoln, the state's defending champion, La Crosse Central and Appleton West, still in the running for return trips to Madison.

Wausau, the 1967 runnerup to Lincoln, was shot down by Rhinelander 57-54, and Sturgeon Bay surprised Green Bay West 55-53.

Central stayed alive by nipping Brookwood 71-67 and defense-minded Appleton West stunned Brillion 69-26, holding the Lions to eight points in the second half.

Overcomes Deficit

Lincoln, apparently jelling in time to make a strong bid for a third straight title, overcame a 42-27 halftime deficit to beat Milwaukee Boys Tech 81-77 in overtime. Tech was runnerup to North in the City Conference but was unable to withstand a fourth-period Comet surge that produced 27 points.

North, trailing 65-64 with 2:55 left to play, literally exploded on Shorewood with six points in 56 seconds to cap a fourth period offensive output of 34 points.

Harold Lee scored 30 points for the Blue Devils, including 10 in the final eight minutes. Steve Berg scored 27 for the losers, who hit at a torrid 57 per cent from the floor.

However, Shorewood couldn't match North in the number of shots. The Blue Devils, although hitting at a 47 per cent accuracy clip, took 79 shots.

Ellis Turrentine, one of the few returnees from the 1967 Lincoln team, scored 31 points in the Comets' victory over Boys Tech. The win came as Lincoln outscored Tech 27-14 in the fourth period.

Some of the top scorers:

Dennis Woelffer of Marshall, 36 points; Pete Hansen of Manitowoc 34; Tom Botcher of Madison West 32; Len Krzewina of Wausaukee 32; Lanny Frenz of Baraboo 32; Rick Birk and Bill Lang, both of Wales, 21 and 30 respectively; Tom Banaszynski of Pulaski 29; Dave Kumljen of Janesville Craig 31; Mike Kriksik of Durand 30 and Bob Parker of Alma 28.

Major interest games tonight pit North against Milwaukee King; Manitowoc against Mishicot; Memorial against Chippewa Falls; Beloit against Barneveld; Schofield against a strong Wisconsin Rapids team; Lincoln against West Allis Central; Appleton West against Kimberly and La Crosse Central against North Crawford.

Kohler meets Sheboygan South, and Wausaukee faces Suring.

game was a total of only 13 fouls on both teams. ULS had 10 called against it while FVL had only three.

High scorers were FVL's Mark Bootz with 12 points and Tim Johnson with 11.

Wisconsin Lutheran had a 27-17 lead over Racine Lutheran at the halftime buzzer. Heavy fouls against Racine and only five against Wisconsin Lutheran in the last half gave the latter opportunities to outshoot Racine and score 36 in the second half while Racine scored only 23.

High scorer was WLH's Steve Chirillo with 21.

Neja Cites Defense

Pennings '5' Tops Newman, Reaches State Semi-Finals

By BILL SCHULZ

MILWAUKEE (AP) — The Bishops of Milwaukee Messmer, who played their "best game of the year" when they upset sixth-ranked Appleton Xavier Friday night, tangle with 10th-ranked La Crosse Aquinas tonight in the semifinals of the Wisconsin Catholic high school basketball tournament.

"The defense was outstanding," said Messmer Coach Bob Neja after the impressive 68-54 victory. "We forced them to the outside and they weren't up to it."

The ease of the Messmer victory was the biggest surprise of a night filled with one-sided surprises.

Xavier went into the meet 21-1 and champions of the Fox Valley Catholic Conference for the seventh straight season while the Bishops got only a piece of the Milwaukee crown—splitting it with Don Bosco. It is the second straight year that Xavier has been bounced in the first tournament game.

The Dons, not quite up to championship form, were swamped by Racine St. Catherine, 57-44. Rounding out the quarterfinals La Crosse Aquinas overpowered Eau Claire Regis, 62-54 and De Pere Abbot Pennings stopped Wausau Newman, 53-43.

St. Catherine tangles with Pennings, in tonight's other semifinal.

"They just boarded the devil out of us," said Newman coach Connie Knoche after his team fell to Pennings. But the Cardinals were in trouble from the very beginning, giving up the ball on mistakes 10 of the first 13 times they got it.

Pennings had an 18-6 lead by the end of the first period, and although Newman went into a press that slowed the Squires down, they couldn't quite catch up. They rallied and closed to within four in the third period, but the Squires took over again and were home free.

Newman's Jerry Siewert led all scorers with 22 points. High man for Pennings was Dan Olson with 19, and three teammates scored in double figures.

Asked why Newman hadn't gone into the press defense earlier, Knoche explained:

"We were in foul trouble early. Out two boardmen (Hanque Amundsen and Gary Crawford) were in particular jeopardy. We couldn't afford any more fouls."

La Crosse Aquinas took an early lead, but suffered a lapse in rebounding and saw the lead evaporate by intermission. Regis left the floor with a 30-27 lead.

"I raised a little cain during the half, and they came back and controlled the boards the rest of the way," Aquinas coach Dave Bruha said.

Solid Defense

But Bruha said a solid defense was the main reason for his team's third victory over Regis this season.

Although Regis' Jim Anibas got 25 points, Bob Petry and Tom Deters took turns snuffing out the Bluegold center's fire power at key spots.

Mike Strasser, whose third period jump shot put the Blue- gods ahead to stay, was high man for Aquinas with 15 points, and the balanced attack saw three other players score in double figures.

Regis Coach Tony Fiore said one of his team's troubles was one of his key men, Rick Zukaitis, got into trouble early and sat out most of two quarters.

"With him in there, the other guys are kept honest underneath because he can hit from outside," Fiore added.

"We knew we could beat Bosco," said St. Catherine Coach John McGuire after his club spilled the Dons. "The kids got through their press and we didn't let them get the second shot off their own boards."

St. Catherine's rebounding was better than usual as Paul Mat- sen and Mike Eschenback snared 22 between them.

The Angels came out after the intermission leading 23-15 and promptly scored 12 straight points to ice the game. They managed only two field goals in the entire third stanza while the Angels got 16 points. The Dons came back with seven straight in the fourth period, but the Angels had soared out of reach.

Bosco's Gary Grzesk took game honors with 17 points. The Angels were led by Rick Pettie with 15. Jim Hass and Matsen each added 13.

Raiders ahead, 75-74, at the 1:25 mark, and Tom converted a pair of gift shots and a field goal with about one minute left for a deciding 79-74 lead.

Clintonville gained its berth in the championship game by fighting back from a 10-3 deficit in the first period. De Pere held a 26-19 lead at the end of the opening canto, but the Truckers stormed back to outscore the Northeastern Wisconsin Conference team, 26-20, in the second period and trailed 46-45 at the intermission.

The opening contest was a barnburner throughout the second half. Mark Paape, still battling the effects of an illness, scored one basket immediately to knot the score at 83-all with 2:36 left, and followed with a steal and a basket 11 seconds later to put Clintonville up for good, at 85-83.

De Pere failed to score during the last 2:15 of the contest, while the Truckers rattled off 10 more points. Clintonville shot a blistering 58.3 per cent for the game by swishing 35 of 60 shots. De Pere capitalized on 34 of 69 field attempts.

Pacing Clintonville were reserve Terry Olson with 25 points, Paape with 20, Todd Nordwig 15, Ray Grant 14, and John Torborg with 11.

Tom Christenson topped De Pere with 27 markers. Bob Young hit 15, and Dennis Lasee added 14.

Other top scorers for Pulaski, besides Tom Banaszynski, were Larry Banaszynski with 19 and Doug Rehn 16. Bruce Magnuson paced Marinette with 23 markers, and was followed by Randy Begotka with 20 and Bob Bartkowiak with 14.

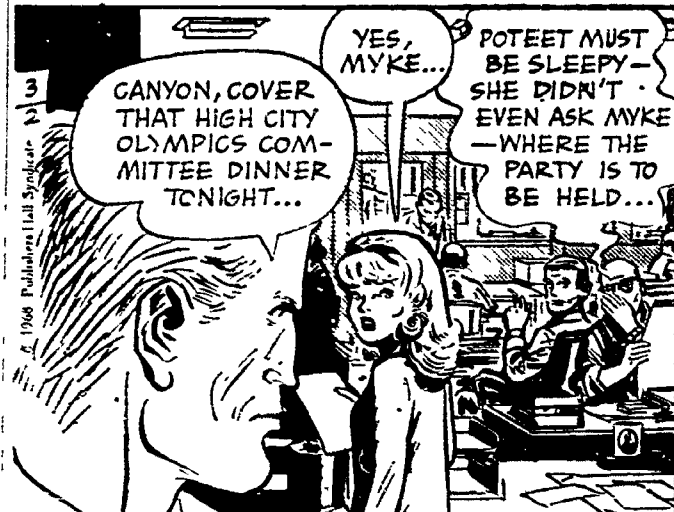

Clintonville and Pulaski will square off today at 8 p.m. for the regional title and the chance to advance to the Green Bay West sectional.

A Bracelet Made of Corks Is Fun to Create and Wear

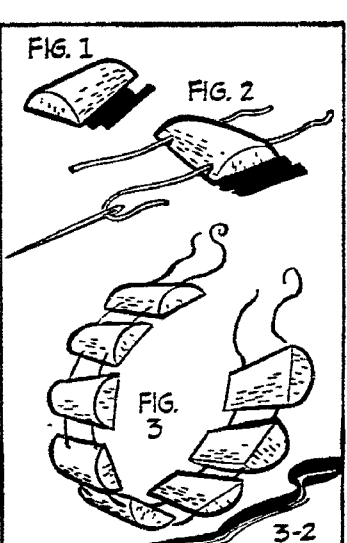

BY CAPPY DICK

A cork bracelet is easy for any girl or boy to make. It isn't a boy's item, of course, but a boy who has a sister could make one as a gift, perhaps for her birthday.

Five or six corks are needed. They should be about one inch long, although larger ones may be used if you prefer. All should be of the same size.

Each one must be cut neatly in half lengthwise. If five corks are used, this will produce 10 halves; six corks will make 12 halves.

A darning needle will be needed to string the halves together as in Figure 2. String all the halves at the narrow end first; then, using the same needle, but a different cord, string them all at the wide end. Ordinary string can be used, but a prettier bracelet will result if you use bright-colored yarn. When the corks have been strung as in figure 3, the bracelet is ready to wear. Tie the ends of the yarn or cord together in a neat bowknot. Let the bracelet be loose so it easily can be slipped on and off by the wearer.

Monday: Lots more good fun for every boy and girl!

3 Contenders For Republican Committeeman

Selection Agreement Eyed Before State Committee Meeting

Post-Crescent Madison Bureau
MADISON — Probable choices for the vacant office of the Wisconsin member of the Republican national committee have been narrowed down to three leading party figures, it was authoritatively reported today.

Regarded as leading possibilities are Fred Hartley of Kenosha, a prominent lawyer and veteran 1st District party officer; Daniel Parker of Janesville, head of the pen manufacturing firm there that bears his name, and John Hough, also head of a Janesville manufacturing company.

An effort will be made before Monday when the Republican state committee meets, to get an agreement among the trio about the selection, according to party informants.

Interim Appointment
The state committee is expected Monday to make an interim appointment to succeed the late Robert L. Pierce of Menomonee, who died a week ago. He had served on the national ruling party committee for 12 years.

The choice is expected to be ratified later by the Republican state convention here in May, and by the Wisconsin delegates to the Republican national convention in August, who will be chosen on behalf of the Republican presidential candidate who wins the primary election here in April.

The state party convention will have a contest, however, on the election of the state's second national committee member.

Mrs. Mary Ising of Oshkosh, now serving, has indicated she is a candidate for re-election. Her announced opponent is Mrs. Rylla Bosshard of La Crosse.

Kaukauna Man Hurt in Crash

KAUKAUNA — Two cars were extensively damaged and the driver of one injured in an accident at Kaukauna and Doty Streets about 5:45 p.m. Wednesday.

According to police, cars driven by Arnold Vander Loop, 69, 225 Maria St., and Daniel Coffey, 22, 616 Meade St., entered the intersection about the same time and collided midway in the street. Vander Loop was going north on Kaukauna and Coffey was headed east on Doty. Coffey skidded 50 feet before the collision. The Vander Loop auto left the road and hit a tree after the collision.

Coffey complained of knee and stomach pains and was treated at a local doctor's office.

Six Grammy Awards Go to 'Up, Away'

Jim Webb's Pop Song Best of Year, Twice Best Performed

NEW YORK (AP) — The lilt-ing song, "Up, Up and Away," carried off six Grammy awards on Thursday night as the National Academy of Recording Arts and Sciences chose the best recordings of 1967.

"Gentle on My Mind" won four, in folk and country categories, depending on who sang it. "Sgt. Pepper's Lonely Hearts Club Band" won four, proving that the Beatles of Liverpool have not lost their magic.

Ellington Cited

Duke Ellington won with "Far East Suite" in the large group jazz category. He and the late Billy Strayhorn also won for "Far East Suite" when the academy's trustees gave a "special merit" Grammy. Going to the stage from his seat besides conductor Leopold Stokowski for the second time, Ellington said, "I told Maestro Stokowski that people are nice to me when I'm with him."

Classical album of the year was a tie between Berg's "Wozzeck," by the Paris National Opera conducted by Pierre Boulez, and Mahler's "Eighth Symphony," the London Symphony Orchestra and Chorus conducted by Leonard Bernstein.

Illinois Sen. Everett Dirksen won the spoken word award for his record of "Gallant Men".

"Up, Up and Away," composed by Jim Webb, won as pop song of the year. As sung by the 5th Dimension, it won as record of the year, best performance by a vocal group, best contemporary single and best contemporary group performance. As sung by the Johnny Mann Singers, it won "best performance by a chorus."

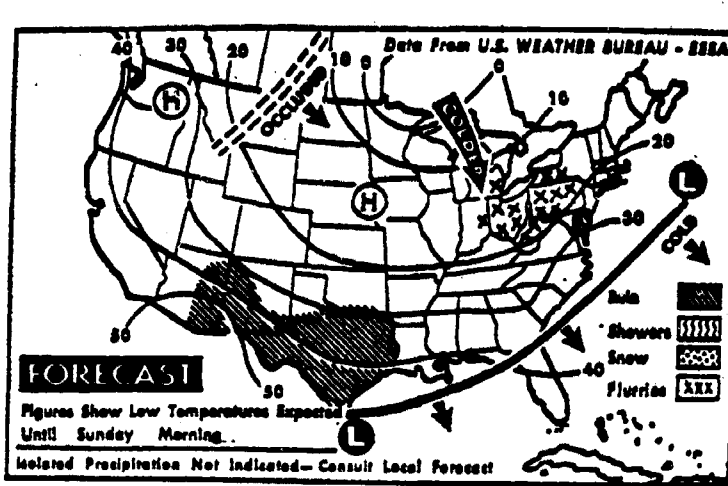

Kindergarten Registration Set At Hortonville

HORTONVILLE — Registration of kindergarten children for the 1968-69 school year will be from 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. March 15 in the kindergarten rooms of the elementary school, Eugene Riedl, principal, said.

Riedl asked people to use the north entrance to the elementary school. There will be no kindergarten classes the day of the registration.

To be eligible, a child's fifth birthday should be on or before Oct. 1, 1968. For registration it will be necessary to bring the child's birth or baptism certificate and a record of past immunization inoculations and illness.

Riedl said the children do not have to be present at the time of registration. If it is impossible to register the child on the scheduled date, parents are asked to phone the school office so a more convenient time can be arranged.

Rain Is Forecast Tonight for the Southwest from Arizona to Texas. Snow flurries are expected for the lower Great Lakes area into Pennsylvania. It will be colder in all but the western third of the nation. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Star-Spangled Entertainment Every Act's a Headliner in Circus Al Dobritch Brought to Green Bay

BY JAMES AUER

Post-Crescent Sunday Editor
GREEN BAY — Al Dobritch, king of circus entrepreneurs' is a man who knows a good act when he sees it.

And in the current edition of his Dobritch International Circus, which opened a three-day stand Friday evening at Brown County Arena, the veteran showman is offering as fine an assortment of outstanding big-top acts as this reviewer has seen in a long, long time.

Granted, the show hasn't quite the Broadway-style razzle-dazzle of its best-known competitor (which shall mercifully remain nameless). There are four elephants, rather than a whole chorus line of them, and the showgirls are utilitarian rather than merely decorative.

Real Circus Folk

But any evening which offers such star-spangled entertainers as "Weary Willie" himself, Emmett Kelly; France's glamorous Jeannine Pivoteau, performing "one-arm giant swings" in the manner of Lillian Leitzel; the Flying Palacios, a superbly skillful quartet of aerialists; and the always amusing Hanneford Family of equestrians, can scarcely fail to delight the "children of all ages" for whom the circus is truly intended.

It's difficult, indeed, to select any act over another, in terms of entertainment value. They're all fine. Princess Tajana, the "Indian Goddess of Flight," is back again to hang from her trapeze by a single bare heel.

That magnificently dilapidated clown vehicle, Cook's Comedy Car, has returned to evoke roars of laughter with its sprays of water and unexpected explosions. The Pharaohs, a pair of attractive newcomers, perform a Cradle Act which is climaxed by a truly hair-raising "helicopter spin," and the Rodriguez Brothers draw more than a few gasps as they perform on the high wire without a net.

Motorist Jailed for Violating Restrictions

Violation of a driver's license restriction cost David J. Coates, 18, route 2, De Pere, seven days in jail.

State police arrested Coates Nov. 12 on U.S. 41 in the Town of Grand Chute. Authorities said he violated a restriction by driving on Sunday. Coates appeared Friday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

County Court Grants Divorces

Cruel and inhuman treatment was charged in two divorce actions heard in Outagamie County Court Branch 1.

Rita Schumann, 27, 718 E. 10th St., Kaukauna, was divorced from Gerald C. Schumann, 27, 517 Desnoyer St., also of Kaukauna. They were married Dec. 30, 1959, and had four children. Schumann is to pay $50 per week support and $20 alimony.

Terry W. Collar, 22, 724 W. Harris St., was divorced by Patricia Collar, 22, 602 S. State St. Married May 5, 1964, they had three children. Collar is to pay $20 per week support.

49 OCTC Students Gain Experience In Area Schools

KAUKAUNA — Sophomores at Outagamie County Teachers College began practice teaching assignments this week under the supervision of the regular classroom teachers.

Twelve of the 49 students participating are doing practice work in the campus school at the college, four are at Shiocton, four at Hortonville, six at Freedom, four at Little Chute, four at Wrightstown, two each at Forest Junction, Black Creek, Green Bay and Pulaski and one each at Gillett, Peshtigo, Weyauwega, Seymour, Brillion and Hilbert.

Later this month, 57 freshmen students will spend a week observing classroom teachers in various schools throughout the area.

Marchels Wins Team Event in City Tourney

WAUPACA — The Waupaca Women's Bowling Association wound up its annual city tournament recently with Marchels Auto Body Shop taking the team event, Isabel Weller and Mary Ann Pennebecker winning the doubles and Judy Heinske the singles. Mary Ann Pennebecker earned all events honors.

Team events were staged at the Up-Town Bowling Lanes and the singles and doubles were rolled at Central Alleys. Prizes will be awarded at the annual spring election meeting scheduled for late this month.

There were 29 entries in the team event. The standings of teams and their total pins with handicap were: Marchels Auto Body Shop, 2,588; Holly's, 2,560; Central Bowling Lanes, 2,553; Lloyd's Distributors, 2,516; Chain O' Lakes Beer Garden, 2,506; Up-Town Boling Lanes,

Wolff Asked if Help Is Needed In Juvenile Unit

Inquiry Comes From Council's Safety Committee

Police Chief Earl O. Wolff was asked Thursday to determine whether an additional man is needed to work on juvenile cases at the Appleton Police Department.

The request came from the city council's public safety committee.

Ald. John Ayers (12th), council president and committee chairman, at first wanted the committee and city personnel director to make the determination.

Recently, there was some controversy over the selection of a new juvenile officer and a grievance was filed with the fire and police commission questioning the selection procedure.

"Asking for Trouble"

"Create another position and you are asking for more trouble," commented Ald. Ralph Gertsch (19th), who said the committee should get a legal opinion from the city attorney before delving into police department administrative affairs. Gertsch, whose motion died due to lack of a second, pointed out that state statutes were explicit in granting powers to the fire and police commission. The committee finally decided the question of whether another man was needed to handle the juvenile case workload fell within the realm of being a department administrative matter.

As a result Wolff and the personnel director were asked to check into the need and report back.

Volunteers Compile Data For Request

Information the City of Appleton will need to justify its request for a housing development for the elderly was assembled Thursday night by a group of citizen volunteers.

Members of the executive committee of the Mayor's Citizen Advisory Committee held their 90-minute work session at the city hall.

Recently, the committee was requested to assist with the project planning and accepted several assignments.

Richard Van Sistine is chairman of the executive committee which met with City Planner Walter Rasmussen last night and turned over the data which had been requested.

"The citizens' group did a good job," Rasmussen said. "I would say the city will be in good shape when submitting its application to the federal government."

Rasmussen will compile the data and information, putting it in grant application form.

Mayor George Buckley must also prepare an administrative policy statement to be included.

The complete package will most likely be presented to the city council Wednesday night for approval.

Driver License Charge Dismissed by Court

At the request of Richard Hamilton, Outagamie County assistant district attorney, a driving after revocation charge brought against a 21-year-old Denmark man was dismissed Thursday in Outagamie County Court Branch 2.

State police had charged Lynn P. Bergemann on Jan. 28. He pleaded innocent last week. Hamilton said it was found that Bergemann had a valid California driver's license and there was a technical question involved in the man's seeking a Wisconsin license.

The high team game, a 913 was rolled by Central Lanes.

Doubles Events
The top 10 in the doubles were Mary Ann Pennebecker and Isabel Weller, 1,256; Carol Anderson and Lorraine Mesunas, 1,124; Laureta Horne and Olive Raimann, 1,112; Marie Wikel and Agnes Hunter, 1,110; Amber Manteufel and Evelyn Psenicka, 1,084; Alice Thompson and Kay Winters, 1,072; Nancy Soderberg and Shirlen Weldon, 1,065; Ruth Wilde and Diane Wilde, 1,059; and Polly Fabricius and Shirley Stange, 1,058. There were 44 entries in the doubles event. The winners of the event, Mary Ann Pennebecker and Isabel Weller also took high game honors with a 462.

Of the 84 entries in the singles, Judy Heinske took first place with a 641 series. The high game of the event was rolled by Jan Wikel who posted a 238. Following Judy Heinske in the singles were Shirley Stange, 618; Jan Wikel, 615; Mary Ann Pennebecker, 602; Ruth Binley, 592; Marietta Gunderson, 591; Isabel Weller, 579; Ruth O'Connor, 572; Dora Jorgens, 563 and Lorraine Mesunas, 556.

There were 78 entries in the all events. Mary Ann Pennebecker was high with a high scratch score of 1,594. Following are the winners in the event and their totals with handicap. Pennebecker, 1,765; Isabel Weller, 1,745; Shirley Stange, 1,718; Judy Heinske, 1,695; Marietta Gunderson, 1,694; Jan Wikel, 1,631; Ruth Wilde, 1,624; Kay Winters, 1,624; Evelyn Robbert, 1,620; Carol Anderson, 1,616; Evelyn Psenicka, 1,616; Ruth Binley, 1,614.

Credit Clerk Guilty of Theft

Mother of Seven Placed on Probation; Restitution Ordered

Mrs. Eleanor P. Nickles, 1516 W. Lawrence St., was placed on two years probation to the State Department of Health and Social Services Friday after she was found guilty of stealing money from the Montgomery Ward & Co. of Appleton, where she worked as a credit clerk.

Mrs. Nickles, mother of seven children, pleaded no contest and was found guilty by Outagamie County Judge Gustave J. Keller.

Took $1,538
Although she was formally charged with theft of less than $100, Dist. Atty. Nick F. Schaefer told the court Mrs. Nickles admitted taking a total of $1,538.38 over a period of months last year.

Schaefer said he did not charge her with a felony count (theft of more than $100) because of a clear past record and other circumstances in the case.

Mrs. Nickles, in a statement for authorities, said she stole the money as customers made payments to the store. She said she took money and did not credit it to customers' accounts.

Mrs. Nickles has paid back $110 of the stolen money. Judge Keller made it a condition of probation that she repay the entire amount to the store.

Y Boys' Choir Parents Pick New Officers

New officers were elected and plans for spring activities discussed at a recent meeting of the Parents' Club of the Appleton YMCA Boys' Choir.

Mrs. Glenn Evraets is the chairman. Heading committees are Wilmer Stach, rules; Mrs. James Egan, finance; Mrs. Dewain Leocy, public relations; data and information, putting it in grant application form.

Mayor George Buckley must also prepare an administrative policy statement to be included.

The complete package will most likely be presented to the city council Wednesday night for approval.

Grass Fire in Waupaca Woods Is Extinguished

WAUPACA — The fire department was called about 10 a.m., Friday to extinguish a grass fire in a wooded area, east of Western Avenue. The fire spread to the wooded area from a nearby garbage burner. No damage was reported.

No Immediate Changes Planned Koehring Buys Fox Tractor Co.

Fox River Tractor Co., one of the area's rapidly growing firms and a major employer, has been purchased by Koehring Co., a Milwaukee-headquartered machinery producer. The official announcement of the reported multi-million dollar transaction was made Friday.

Purchase price was not disclosed. It was indicated there would be no changes in the corporate administrative structure of the Town of Grand Chute firm, which manufactures forage harvesters and road maintenance machinery. There had been no advance word the two firms were involved in negotiations and had completed an agreement this week.

Koehring, a leading manufacturer of excavation machinery, has acquired the assets and business of Fox River Tractor in exchange for a new series of no par convertible preferred stock. Fox River Tractor will retain its name and become a separate division of Koehring, which has no other division producing competitive equipment, according to Orville Mertz, Koehring president.

Raymond A. Saiberlich, who will continue as president and general manager, said today he favored the merger because "it will strengthen operations and insure future production, without Fox River Tractor losing its identity."

No Expansion Plans
Mertz stated his firm saw a growing demand for the highly automated farm equipment produced by Fox Tractor, and said he believes there is more opportunity in a versatile, short-line equipment-maker such as Fox River, to serve the expanding specialty markets, than in general farm equipment lines. Saiberlich indicated there were no immediate plans for expansion, but said only half of the present 58-acre plant site at 3800 W. Wisconsin Avenue was being utilized.

Fox River Tractor moved to the present plant, including 200,000 square feet of factory floor space, in 1963 to meet expansion demands. Since its founding in 1919, the firm had been located at 1020 N. Rankin Street.

Since 1963, Fox Tractor production and sales increased steadily. Sales are running about $11 million annually, Saiberlich said.

The company sells through dealers and distributors in all 50 states, and recently sent large shipments to France, England, Ireland, Spain, Denmark and Rumania.

The firm, which employs 360 persons year-around and over 400 during summer months, also produces related tractor-drawn and self-propelled farm equipment. About 6 per cent of its production is sand-spreading machines used for control of icy highway conditions.

Fox River Tractor was started as a tractor builder by two brothers, Frank and Oscar Saiberlich. Frank was Raymond's father.

Developed Harvester
Four years later, the firm switched to silo filler production. It was from this filler the Saiberlichs developed the first practical field forage harvester in 1936.

Frank Saiberlich died in 1936 and was succeeded as president by Oscar, who died two years later. Raymond has been head of the company since 1938.

Saiberlich indicated several other major manufacturers, including top farm machinery producers, had inquired in recent months about purchasing Fox Tractor. However, the officers felt merging with Koehring was the best move, he said.

Koehring is an international machinery producer whose products are used in construction, plastics, metalworking, petroleum, paper and material handling industries, and in agriculture.

Worldwide Sales
Its worldwide sales for the fiscal year ending Nov. 30 totaled $185 million, and its earnings were $8.5 million, according to Mertz.

Koehring, established in Milwaukee in 1907, has about 30 licensed or affiliated concerns in Port Washington, Racine, and in several other states and foreign countries.

In late January, Koehring completed an agreement to acquire Pegasus Laboratories Inc., Berkley, Mich., a leading producer of electro-hydraulic servo-mechanisms which are used extensively in the machine tool, data processing and aerospace industries.

Church Women Set Session at Navarino
NAVARINO — The American Lutheran Church Women of Ascension Lutheran Church will hold a meeting at 2 p.m. Thursday.

Hostesses will be Mrs. Elmer Robley and Mrs. James Mueller. The Naomi Circle will present a program on "The Secret of Symbols." Visitations for the month will be handled by the Ruth Circle.

The group's study lesson for the meeting concerns the suffering of the Messiah as related in Psalm 22.

Win for Military

Lawrence Poll Backs Recruiters

Military recruiters should continue to use campus facilities at Lawrence University.

This was the opinion of a slim majority of students — 339 for and 309 against — in a vote held Thursday.

The vote was a direct reaction to a November directive issued by Gen. Lewis Hershey who was quoted on the referendum ballot as saying: "Local (draft) boards should feel free to reclassify students who demonstrate against campus recruiters in a manner that may be considered extreme."

Corridors of Power
Students at Oberlin, Harvard and Utah State have been re-classified because of protests against recruiters, according to the College Compendium of January, 1968, and the American Civil Liberties Union maintains that the Hershey directive when implemented violates free speech, association and assembly and the right to petition for redress of grievances.

Lawrence students supporting the referendum which was proposed by David Chambers, ex-president of the Student Senate, stated that the university has no obligation to the armed services. They claimed that, though Hershey's staff and the recruiting services are independent enterprises, "they are not ignorant of each other. Our action would certainly gain notice in the corridors of power."

Students who maintained that Lawrence should continue to provide facilities for military recruiters regardless of Gen. Hershey's directive felt that "the sponsors of this referendum are in serious error in their choice of the form the protest should take."

Concrete Violation
They stated, "We feel that the restriction of military recruiters from the Lawrence campus is an undeniable impediment to personal freedom. The student body has consistently aimed at allowing all points of view, all sectors of our society, to have a voice in the Lawrence community."

"To restrict such an important and influential segment of our society as the military is directly opposed to this desire. To prohibit the opportunity for students to talk to military recruiters on the campus, where they are exposed to recruiters from all other walks and wars of life, is a concrete violation of individual rights."

Opponents of barring the military pointed out that the referendum was a futile gesture, that "an attack on military recruiters is not an attack on Gen. Hershey."

"The key point remains, however, that it is against the tradition of the Lawrence student body to stifle the free exchange of ideas, and to restrict individual rights. Such a measure could only serve to destroy much of what we have built up over the years."

In a breakdown of the voting, 181 men were against campus recruiting, and 180 were for it. The senior class and junior men voted against recruiting, while the lower classes and junior women were in favor.

Bluebird Trails Are Weyauwega Club Project

WEYAUWEGA — Development of another bluebird trail near the city and the replacement of blue bird houses along the present trail were voted at the Wednesday Evening meeting of the Garden Club.

Each member will donate a blue bird house for the old trail southeast of the city. Mrs. Emil Reek and Mrs. Fred Zeichert are in charge of the project.

"Dahlias" were the program topic, presented by Mrs. Frank Zabo and Mrs. Fred Zeichert.

Bound Over for Trial

Detective Testifies 1,736 Pills Found in Burglary Suspect's Car

An Appleton Police Department detective testified during a preliminary hearing in Outagamie County Court Branch 2 Friday afternoon, that 1,736 pills were found during a Feb. 2 search of a car owned by Michael M. Brown, 19, 724 N. Bennett St.

Following the preliminary hearing, Judge Gustave J. Keller bound Brown over to Circuit Court for entering of pleas on charges of burglarizing Appleton Pharmacy, 601 W. College Ave., on Jan. 29, and unlawful possession of dangerous drugs on Feb. 2.

Brown, who is in jail under $5,000 bond, is alleged to have stolen the pills, most of them barbiturates, from the downtown Appleton drug store during the early morning burglary.

Lt. Robert Frailing testified Friday that he and other detectives obtained a search warrant Feb. 2 and found 20 bottles of pills in a "gym bag" in the trunk of Brown's 1953 model auto which they stopped at Wisconsin Avenue and Union Street.

Pharmacy Labels
The detective said they also found a "blue and red capsule" under the front floor mat of the car. The pill bottles carried Appleton Pharmacy labels, Frailing said.

Mylan Sinclair, 2600 N. Beechwood St., part-owner of the pharmacy, testified Friday that in addition to the pills, about $95 was taken from cash registers in the store. He said entry was gained by breaking a door glass.

Sinclair testified as to the types of barbiturates taken, and explained he identified the drugs recovered by police by store tags on the pill bottles. Sinclair said the barbiturates taken were the type that could be legally obtained only with a prescription.

$100 Loss
On cross-examination by Brown's attorney, Sinclair testified the stolen pills represented about a $100 loss to the drug store.

Morris Gabert, 1624 W. Lorraine Court, also part owner of the store, said he was in the building until 11:35 p.m. Jan. 28. Thomas Techlin, 18, 1606 N. Outagamie St., who said he was a friend of Brown's, testified Brown had no money before the Appleton Pharmacy burglary but had about $75 shortly after.
